Series of Bank Robberies In U.S.; Policeman Slain

Machine Guns and Revolvers Used When Bandits Raid Needham, Mass., Trust Company; Aged Vault Attendant Shot Down and Others Wounded

New Jersey Gang Takes $130,000

The guns of bank robbers blazed to-day in a sudden outbreak of hold-ups in various parts of the United States.

A policeman was slain by bullets from the sub-machine guns and pistols of four men who took $10,000 from the Needham Trust Company bank at Needham, Mass. An aged vault attendant was shot down and wounded without cause and two others were wounded before the bandits sped away in an auto.

In Pennsgrove, N.J., four armed robbers seized and fled with bags containing $130,000 being carried into the Pennsgrove National bank.

At Coleman, Texas, three men robbed the First National Bank of about $35,000, screening their flight with six employees kidnaped as they left. All but one was released near the bank.

Four men held up a branch of the Union Trust Company at Rochester, N.Y., and escaped with between $10,000 and $15,000.

MEN'S WAGES

Pennsgrove, N.J., Feb. 2.—Four men stole $130,000 from two bank employees to-day as they were entering the Pennsgrove National Bank with the money in three packages and a mail bag.

The cash was to be used to meet the demands of the employees of E. I. Du Pont de Nemours and Company, and which pays its men by cheque.

The four men escaped. The bank gong and fire siren were sounded and within five minutes fifty automobiles carrying residents of the town and vicinity started in search of the robbers.

Snow covered the roads. No trace of the robbers' car could be found.

The hold-up was one of the biggest in the history of this section.

ONE SLAIN

Needham, Mass., Feb. 2.—One policeman was slain, three other men shot and $10,000 taken from the Needham Trust Company to-day by four bandits, two of them armed with what bank employees described as sub-machine guns. Forbes McLeod, policeman, shot through the stomach as he answered the bank's burglar alarm, died shortly afterward in the Glover Hospital.

As the bandits fled from the bank they compelled Arnold McIntosh, treasurer, and John B. Riordan, teller, to climb on the running board of their touring car to protect them against possible pursuit.

Riordan jumped as the car sped through the square and escaped unwounded as the bandits fired at him. McIntosh was thrown out of the machine three miles farther on.

The men shot by the bandits were Walter H. Bartholomew, seventy-five-year-old vault attendant; Forbes McLeod and Frank Haddock, policemen, and Timothy Coughlin, a fireman.

who will likely be the next Speaker of the British Columbia Legislature. He has just arrived from Prince George with a "work and wages" programme to submit to the cabinet.

WORKS PLAN IS OUTLINED

H. G. Perry Here For Session; Has Work and Wages Scheme

Armed with a "work and wages" scheme to submit to the government, H. G. Perry, M.P.P. for Fort George, arrived here to-day to commence work preparatory to the opening of the session on February 20. Mr. Perry is the government's choice for Speaker of the House.

Mr. Perry explained briefly to reporters his proposal for works which, he believes, would cost no more than the present relief system, and would provide wages for those who have no jobs at present.

His suggestion is that the government undertake a major development, establishing work camps for the purpose and fix a part-time employment schedule for different classes. Wages earned during the period of work allowed would be retained by the government and then distributed on a monthly or weekly basis to those who

AUSTRIAN PEASANTS DISPLAY LOYALTY

By Wade Werner, Associated Press Foreign Staff

Vienna, Feb. 2. — Chancellor Engelbert Dollfuss told a mass meeting to-day that as long as 100,000 peasants were willing to take the trouble to come to Vienna in a demonstration of loyalty to their chancellor, elections to show the government it has the people behind it are not necessary.

Fully 110,000 persons were packed in around the Northwest Railway shed in which he spoke.

"This shows," he declared, "how ridiculous is the allegation that the people are not behind the government."

Listeners who cheered Dollfuss, booed Chancellor Hitler of Germany.

M'RAE SEES WAR COMING

Retirement of Canada From League Suggested By Vancouver Senator

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Feb. 2.—Canada should retire from the League of Nations while the opportunity exists to do so "honorably," lest the Dominion become embroiled in a European war, said Senator A. D McRae of Vancouver, in the Senate yesterday.

"In my judgment," Senator McRae said, "a European war is a certainty within five years." In suggesting an early withdrawal from the League of Nations he expressed the opinion that "no Canadian life should be sacrificed on the future battlefields of Europe."

Senator McRae served with distinction during the Great War as quartermaster-general of the overseas Canadian forces. He holds the rank of major-general. His statements were made in the course of the debate on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne.

RACIAL HATRED

Basing his conclusions upon observations made during a recent tour of Central Europe, General McRae declared that the result of the Versailles Treaty had been to set up a group of countries filled with racial ambitions and racial hatreds.

He was not unmindful, General McRae said, of the work done by the League in the suppression of the narcotic and white slave traffic, but it had failed in its main objective of establishing international peace.

"When we see great nations that are already over populated, paying a bonus for large families," Senator McRae observed, "it is not difficult to conclude what is in their minds."

Senator F. B. Black of Sackville, N.B., thought a far more effective instrument to insure the peace of the world would be a union of the British Empire and the United States. This combination could force any nations to prove the justness of their position before launching an attack.

Other speakers on the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne were Senators George Lynch-Staunton, J. J. Hughes, Ralph B. Horner and W. M. Aseltine.

The Senate adjourned until February 20.

SCRAMBLE FOR FRENCH GOLD

Prices Sky-rocket and Franc Fluctuates Wildly as Buyers Plunge in Market

Associated Press

London, Feb. 2.—The United States dollar closed to-day nearly five cents to the pound higher, with a quotation of $4.92¾, as compared with the overnight figure of $4.97½.

President Roosevelt's devaluation of the dollar and his offer to buy gold from the world market created a record scramble for gold and gold shares.

The early effect here was a heavy demand for French francs with which to buy gold at the current price of the Bank of France and to resell in the United States, thereby meeting a big profit for the operators.

Such was the demand for gold on the open market that price fixing on the current franc was abandoned and the price simply was regulated by supply and demand.

Sankey Faces Trial For Abduction of Charles Boettcher

America's Public Enemy No. 1 Escapes Charge of Participation in Kidnaping of Col. Lindbergh's Son

Alcorn, Associate, Is Under Arrest

Associated Press

Chicago, Feb. 2.—Verne Sankey, described as "America's Public Enemy No. 1," has escaped temporarily at least a charge of participation in the kidnaping of the infant son of Col. Charles A. Lindbergh, but must face a federal court trial for abduction of the wealthy Denver broker, Charles Boettcher II.

Hours of questioning by federal agents of the stocky little former railroad engineer of Melville, Sask., apparently failed to link him with the fatal Lindbergh abduction, and he was hurriedly started by train Thursday night for Pierre, S.D., where he is under indictment for the Boettcher "snatch."

Sankey waived extradition. He was carefully guarded by five Department of Justice agents, led by Melvin Purvis, chief of the department's Chicago office, and traveled in a private car.

Sankey, who confessed, Purvis said, to the $60,000 Boettcher kidnaping as well as the $12,000 abduction of Haskell Bohn of St. Paul, faced the prospect of receiving a life term if he is convicted, and there were indications the authorities were hopeful he would be.

"The chances for conviction in the Boettcher case are better in South Dakota," United States District Attorney Dwight H. Green said.

Meanwhile Sankey's woman companion, who identified herself as Helen Mattern, twenty-eight, arrested Wednesday when Sankey was cap-

THINKS CAVELL EXECUTION JUST

Captain A. Duff Cooper Justifies It on Military Grounds

Canadian Press Cable

London, Feb. 2.—Declaring that Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George, throughout his term as war-time Prime Minister, worked against the British Commander-in-Chief, Field-Marshal Sir Douglas Haig, although he was unwilling to dismiss him, Capt. Alfred Duff Cooper, D.S.O., Financial Secretary of the War Office, made a strong plea for a truce in the traditional rivalry between soldiers and politicians.

"One of the greatest mistakes made in the last war by the Prime Minister of the day was that he distrusted the Commander-in-Chief but had not the courage to dismiss him," said Capt. Duff Cooper. "Mr. Lloyd George distrusted Field-Marshal Haig. He thought the latter was unfitted for his command, but he was afraid of public opinion and did not dare to place somebody else in the position."

Incidentally, the War Office Secretary, who served in the Grenadier Guards in the war, declared he thought the execution of Nurse Edith Cavell by a German firing squad on October 12, 1915, was justified on military grounds.

"Miss Cavell," he pointed out to his audience of army officers, "was a noble and courageous woman, one whom the Germans were entitled to execute according to the rules of warfare.

"But any politician could have told them the execution was going to arm another 100,000 men against Germany.

Finance Leaders Believe Country Will Swing With States Toward Recovery

GOLD POLICY BOON TO B.C.

Roosevelt's New Price Worth $1,500,000 to Operators in Province

Based on last year's production in the province, the new gold value policy established by President Roosevelt should be worth approximately $1,500,000 to British Columbia producers.

This was the rough estimate made to-day by provincial mines officials after studying the posible effect of the new gold price.

By establishing the gold price at $35, the United States president has made it possible for producers in this province to practically double the premium they received last year, which worked out at close to $6 an ounce over the full period. This year the premium will be $14.33 over the standard price of $20.67 for gold.

Prospects of B.C.'s gold production in 1934 exceeding that of 1933 are heightened by the new policy, since the higher price will encourage operation of many workings which were not profitable under the former scale.

Gold produced last year on lode operations was 217,000 ounces, for which an average price of $28.61 an ounce was received, or a total of about $6,200,000. In addition, $400,000 worth of placer gold was taken out. With prices based on $35 an ounce, the value of this amount would pass the $8,000,000 mark.

SAKE APPEAL IS ALLOWED

Decision of B.C. Supreme Court Reversed By Privy Council

Canadian Press Cable

London, Feb. 2.—Appeal of the Vancouver Malt and Sake Brewing Company Limited against a decision of the Supreme Court of British Columbia in favor of Vancouver Breweries Limited was allowed to-day by their lordships of the judicial committee of the Privy Council.

The dispute was over the validity of an agreement to assign a brewer's license. Appeal was allowed with costs.

The Privy Council hearing culminated nearly two years of litigation in which Vancouver Malt and Sake Brewing Company Limited sought to establish the right to manufacture beer in Vancouver.

When Fritz Sick, Alberta brewer, and associates paid $55,000 for the firm's charter and plant on Powell Street in February, 1932, action was taken in the courts here by Vancouver Breweries Limited to enjoin it from manufacturing beer.

BASED ON AGREEMENT

Vancouver Breweries' action was based on an agreement, entered into on December 5, 1927, when it paid $15,000 to Vancouver Malt and Sake Brewing Company for the exclusive use for fifteen years of the latter's beer brewing license. The agreement was made on behalf of Vancouver Breweries by its directors, Henry Reifel and Macdonald Marling, who has since died. It was signed for Vancouver Malt and Sake Brewing Company by K. Sanmiya and Frank A. Jackson, directors.

Progressive Leader, Who Died To-day, Outstanding Agrarian and Statesman

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Feb. 2.—Senator Robert Forke, former Minister of Immigration and leader of the Progressive Party in the House of Commons, died here to-day. He was seventy-three years old. The distinguished statesman had been suffering from a heart ailment.

The illness developed while he was en route to his farm home, near Pipestone, Man., for the New Year's holiday. He was immediately rushed to hospital, where for four weeks he waged a stubborn battle for life. He had been in a critical, semi-conscious condition for days, until the end came to-day.

From farm boy to statesman epitomizes the career of the man who became the outstanding leader in western agrarian movements. As an emigrant youth he left his home at Gordon, Berwickshire, Scotland, in 1882 to seek his fortune in Canada. Shortly after he arrived at Pipestone, where he was to make his home.

Profitable Diversion of Canadian-produced Gold to Washington and Greater Buying Power Expected to Result From Roosevelt's 59-Cent Dollar

Aids Canadian Gold Producers

Devaluation of U.S. Dollar "Long Step Towards Bringing About World Recovery," Says Sir Thomas White

Canadian Press

Toronto, Feb. 2. — If President Franklin Roosevelt's monetary policy has the effect Canadian financial leaders believe it will have, Canada will swing along to better times arm-in-arm with the United States. The Rooseveltian "modified dollar" and its accompanying stimulants to business were regarded today as likely to aid Canada in various ways.

There may be a profitable diversion of the flow of Canadian-produced gold from London to Washington, and even if London rises to the occasion and retains a higher gold price, the Dominion will profit. Commodity prices should advance with the cheaper dollar, the buying power of primary producers increase and export trade should be strengthened, it was said.

Canadian gold producers will benefit because President Roosevelt has fixed a price of $35 an ounce for gold and announced he will buy.

Hon. Charles McCrae, Ontario Minister of Mines, hailed the United States fixed price as a boon to the miner. The President's action, he said, "will bring more wealth into Ontario than can be estimated at this time."

GOLD COVERAGE

The Canadian government's own gold supply of $72,000,000, held as coverage for currency, showed a potential profit to-day as the metal was purchased at the standard Canadian price of $20.67 an ounce.

Financial leaders made no comment on the possibility England would put her approximately $2,000,000,000 stabilization fund to work to keep the value of the pound sterling down and the price of the dollar up, in which case the London gold market might remain the best market for Canada.

Sir Thomas White, vice-president of the Canadian Bank of Commerce and former Federal Minister of Finance regarded President Roosevelt's move in devaluating the United States dollar by 40.94 per cent in gold as "a long step toward bringing about world recovery." But he said return to a gold standard is really necessary to bring about stabilization of world currencies and to promote international trade.

"Return to a gold standard may be nearer than we realize," he added.

CANADIAN PARITY

Montreal, Feb. 2.—Movement in foreign exchanges suggestive of a parity between Canadian and United States currency and a pound fixed at $5 is seen by experts who have been watching the situation here.

Unemployment Graph Has Bright Spots

Less Now Receiving Relief in B.C. Than at This Time Last Year

Increase in Transients During December; Outlook Brighter

The graph of unemployment in British Columbia during 1933, prepared by the relief department of the British Columbia Government, apparently indicates that the climb out of the pit of depression has been steadily maintained.

Latest figures showing the trend reveal that the total of those supplied with relief in the province in December was approximately 2,000 less than that of the previous December, and that the seasonal increase, exclusive of single men, from November to December was 3,000 less than in 1932.

Two factors are said to account for the improvement, the most important being the increase of employment in industry, mainly lumber; the other is a stringent enforcement of regulations discouraging transients from seeking relief.

CUTTEN LOSES LEGAL SUIT

Associated Press

Chicago, Feb. 2.—A $10,000 award against Arthur W. Cutten, veteran board of trade operator from Guelph, Ont., was voted to-day by a grand jury trying the $50,000 suit by John R. Mauff for services rendered as Cutten's "ghost writer."

Cutten had conducted a long campaign to have the United States government's regulations of grain trading amended in favor of the grain buyer.

The articles that were published and the letters written to high government officials, were mostly written by Mauff.

He demanded $50,000 compensation for the propaganda job.

Cutten, admitting the Grain Futures Act of 1922 cramped his style and smothered futures trading to his detriment as a speculator, said in defence that he and Mauff were partners in propaganda. He said he had never promised Mauff any compensation, but worked with him toward an end they both desired.

Theoretical Reduction of 40.96 Per Cent in Sums Owed U.S.; May Apply Pressure on Delinquents

Associated Press

Washington, Feb. 2—The Roosevelt administration to-day appeared ready to apply pressure upon delinquent European war debtors, pointing out the United States dollar devaluation had wrought an at least theoretical reduction of 40.96 per cent in the sums owed.

Sentiment apparently ruled strong in both the Senate and House of Representatives in favor of some sort of retaliatory action against defaulting nations.

Senator Johnson, Republican, California, to-day had the approval of the State Department to certain amendments to his measure to deny further credit to nations behind in their war debts.

U.S. Monetary Policy Will Benefit Canada

up to 135s 6d, and to-day it soared to 139s 6d. If it advances another sixpence, experts explained, it will be on a nominal $5 basis as against the United States dollar.

The Canadian dollar has been pursuing a similar course. Wednesday gold was $33.39 an ounce in Canadian currency. Yesterday it was $34.01 and to-day $34.67. If it continues the same trend to-morrow it may reach the $35 set by President Roosevelt for the new American price and the Canadian dollar would be on an apparent parity with the United States dollar as fixed by presidential decree.

CANADIAN CHANGES

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Feb. 2.—The most important immediate effect upon Canada of President Roosevelt's new monetary policy will be that Canadian gold will now go to the United States, whereas it has for nearly a year, been shipped mainly to London.

What changes may be made in the Canadian monetary system as a result of happenings in the United States remains to be decided by the government.

Export of the precious metal from Canada was made illegal by act of Parliament last April, except by license from the Department of Finance. Since then the department has bought all gold produced and sold it in the best market, passing along to the producers the benefit of any increase over the Canadian price of $20.67 an ounce.

United States now offers the best market, with President Roosevelt prepared to buy all gold offered at $35 an ounce.

New York, Feb. 2.—Gold movement from abroad failed to keep the United States dollar from rising in terms of foreign currencies to-day.

Wall Street banking quarters said they were convinced the high premium commanded by the dollar over the French gold franc and the sterling gold price in London would eventually attract enough gold to bring the dollar down to its new parity, but adjustment of foreign currencies to the new rates might take time.

In terms of the dollar, the pound sterling in New York touched $4.92½, off 5½c, and the lowest since November.

STEP TO STABILITY

London, Feb. 2.—Gold and the United States dollar dominated the news and editorial columns of London's effects so far and the effects it may or may not have were discussed at length.

"The United States has returned to gold by establishing an international gold bullion standard," The Times said. "It may prove to be the first essential step toward restoration of a common international monetary standard—one of the most important essentials to restoration of international trade."

The paper advocated some kind of currency understanding in London and Washington.

The Post said it was fairly safe to assume the new gold value was intended to remain fixed for the present.

The Telegraph assured its readers they need not dread United States capturing world markets with a sixty-cent dollar. The paper saw what happened in the United States as "a step toward stability."

MONEY TALKS

Washington, Feb. 2.—A series of private money talks with Great Britain were indicated authoritatively to-day to be either under way or about to begin, as officials here investigated actions in London and Paris to determine their own course.

In the intricate web of European governmental high finance authorities saw possibilities that might determine the future of President Roosevelt's dollar programme. Reactions abroad Thursday to the 40.96 per cent devaluation and the new high for gold were not considered highly satisfactory here.

High sources conceded the Roosevelt gold policy could be hampered by a French embargo on gold which would eliminate this heavy source of the world market supply and simultaneously act against the effect of the United States fixed $35 an ounce price.

Officials watched particularly for movements that might affect the gold standard position of France, such as continued heavy drains of gold from Paris to London.

Although some here predicted a heavy flow of gold into the United States because of the profit inherent in foreign gold prices considerably below this country's $35, the belief was nevertheless current in authoritative quarters that if France should go off the gold standard it would be because of British rather than American activity.

Coupled with this opinion, however, was the view it would be to London's benefit to have France on gold, that to keep the pound at around $5 it is necessary for London to draw on Paris for gold.

Another alternative viewed possible here would be for Great Britain to wield her huge equalization fund in the dollar market.

Such action might mean a currency war between Washington and London which Secretary Henry Morgenthau asserts would be "costly to both" countries. Officials nevertheless predicted early use of the United States $2,000,000,000 fund.

The middle and best ground, as some officials here gauged it, was an understanding on currencies. Discussions with London were viewed as the start of the move.

DAWE ENTERS NANAIMO RACE

Endorsed By Duncan Liberals as Their Choice For Federal Nomination

Special to The Times

Duncan, Feb. 2.—Assurances of keen competition at Duncan on February 14 when Nanaimo Liberals select a candidate to run for the House of Commons was provided here yesterday evening when the Duncan Liberal Association nominated A. P. Dawe.

At a meeting presided over by W. W. Walkem, mayor of Ladysmith, who has also been mentioned as a prospective candidate, the name of Mr. Dawe was unanimously endorsed as the choice of the Duncan association. His name, with others, will go before the convention of the Nanaimo Federal Liberal Association at Duncan.

Mr. Dawe, who besides having a home in Victoria has farms in Saltair and Ladysmith, is a life-long Liberal. In the last provincial election campaign he was an active campaigner in the interests of David Ramsay, Liberal candidate for Cowichan-Newcastle. Mr. Dawe was a British Columbia delegate to the Liberal convention at Ottawa in 1932.

Unemployment Graph Has Bright Spots

The relief graph, which took a sharp drop in the spring of last year, and a gradual upward swing as the summer seasonal employment finished, has not reached the peak figure of last January, when there were more than 120,000 receiving relief.

TOTALS GIVEN

The comparative totals for December, 1932 and 1933, are 108,308 and 106,525, these figures including all classes as well as dependents.

The largest drop was in the number of dependents, which declined from 63,836 in December 1932 to 60,545 in 1933. The totals for families and single men are approximately the same.

JANUARY ESTIMATE DOWN

While the figures do not provide any occasion for rejoicing, they at least show that B.C. is more than holding its own, relief officials believe. Events now transpiring are taken as hopeful signs and the estimate for January this year, for which figures are not available, gives a total 7,000 less than that of 1933.

The segregation of those on relief as at the end of the year is as follows: Heads of families, 21,163; dependents, 60,545; single men and women, 18,013; men in National Defence Department camps, 6,804. Of the family heads 14,203 are in municipalities and the rest in districts under provincial control; 39,279 dependents are in cities and 21,266 under the province; 12,411 single men and women are in municipalities and 5,602 in unorganized territory.

Marked increase in the number of transients receiving relief in December as compared with November again raises the seriousness of this situation to the province, officials said. There was an increase of 200 family heads and 500 dependents in the one month, and practically all were cases of people drifting in from other provinces to escape rigors of winter in the coast climate. While the responsibility for these cases might be disclaimed, they cannot be left to starve, it was pointed out

POLITICAL LIFE

Public life soon called him and he became a prominent figure in the little municipality that adopted him. Various political activities occupied his attention until 1921, when he entered the House of Commons.

While he had previously experimented in provincial politics as a Liberal candidate at Brandon, it was the general elections of 1921 that brought him to Ottawa and launched him squarely on the path that led him to cabinet rank and the Senate.

In that year he was given leadership of the Progressive Party in the Federal House, following the resignation of Hon. T. A. Crerar. Independent support was accorded Liberal policies, and in 1924 one of the chief results was maintenance of the Crow's Nest Pass rates.

ENTERED CABINET

In the general election of 1925 Brandon again sent him back to the Dominion House with an increased majority. He was appointed Minister of Immigration in 1926 in the cabinet of Premier W. L. Mackenzie King.

In the field of immigration he negotiated an agreement for extension of a reduced Atlantic rate agreement, and accomplished important colonization work.

Mr. Forke resigned his portfolio on December 30, 1930, and was appointed to the Senate. In the Upper Chamber he played a quiet role, spending much more time at his beloved Pipestone than he had been able to do during his active days as a member of the Federal House.

In 1892 he married Miss Elma C. McGregor. Three daughters were born of the union, Ethel May, Marjorie Isabel and Mary Gertrude. All were at the bedside when the end came. Funeral arrangements have not yet been completed.

Although it had the right to manufacture beer, Vancouver Malt and Sake Brewing Company had never exercised it; and, in the course of the proceedings, the explanation was made that A. M. Manson, when Attorney-General, had obtained from the firm an undertaking not to engage in the beer business before he would allow it to brew sake.

On June 7, 1932, Mr. Justice D. A. McDonald in Supreme Court awarded Vancouver Breweries judgment upholding the agreement of December 5, 1927, and ordered Vancouver Malt and Sake Brewing Company not to engage in the manufacture of beer during the term of the agreement.

Defendant appealed and the appeal was heard by Court of Appeal in November, 1932. On January 27 following the court dismissed the appeal, with Mr. Justice A. E. McPhillips dissenting.

The Court of Appeal was told by appellant's counsel that a beer monopoly existed in Vancouver. The argument was advanced that the agreement of December 5, 1927, was in restraint of trade; was contrary to Section 498 of the Criminal Code as unduly limiting the manufacture of beer. The Combines Investigation Act was also cited by appellant against the validity of the agreement. A fifteen-year restrictive covenant was unreasonable, it was contended. There were other grounds, including a contention that a transfer of a brewery license is illegal and unenforceable.

A contract in restraint of trade is enforceable if it is reasonable and is not against the public welfare, argued Vancouver Breweries' counsel. The policy of the law, it was submitted, is to restrict breweries, not to encourage them.

Under this method was reached a record price for gold—139 shillings, 6 pence a fine ounce—a close approximation of the United States offer of $35 a fine ounce.

Conditions resembling a boom prevailed in the stock market. Everyone wanted to buy gold shares.

In the foreign exchange market the demand for United States dollars persisted, represented principally by a desire to transfer United States and British funds to the United States to participate in what traders anticipated would be a boom in Wall Street.

The French franc strengthened at one time to 76.69 to the pound, but was offered on the market later and closed at 77.69.

London, Feb. 2. — President Roosevelt's devaluation plan resulted in virtual abandonment of the French franc as the price for fixing gold on the open market in London, at least for to-day.

There was such keen demand for £840,000 of gold that a price of 139 shillings six pence—a new record high—was fixed on "supply and demand."

The dollar, after a weak opening at $4.99½ to the pound, started a spectacular advance to $4.94 at noon, 3½ cents net higher.

The franc, in considerable demand, jumped to 76.69 to the pound against Thursday's quotation of 78.30, buyers needing a supply to purchase gold from France for shipment to United States.

Something like boom conditions prevailed in the Kaffir section of the Stock Exchange, where a fresh record price for gold brought visions of increased earning powers for various mines.

The uncertainty which existed Thursday in Stock Exchange and foreign exchange circles throughout the city's financial quarters was dispersing to-day.

It was reported that considerable quantities of gold already had been engaged for shipment to the United States and that further quantities were expected to go later.

ALCORN ARRESTED

Chicago, Feb. 2.—Gordon Francis Alcorn, formerly of Asquith, Sask., wanted for the kidnaping in Denver of Charles Boettcher II, was arrested here last night a short time after his alleged associate Verne Sankey had been sent on his way to South Dakota to stand trial for the same abduction.

Ten United States government agents surrounded a house at 3125 Addison Street at 11 o'clock and nabbed Alcorn, last of the Boettcher kidnapers.

Alcorn is said to have confessed to the kidnaping of Boettcher.

In the house occupied by Alcorn a 22-calibre automatic revolver was found by federal agents.

INQUIRY INTO PRICE SPREADS

Canadian Press

Ottawa, Feb. 2.—Premier Bennett took the first move in the House of Commons to-day to establish a parliamentary committee to investigate price spreads between producers and consumers. The probe also would include mass buying by chain and department stores, labor conditions in industries and marketing systems in the flour milling and livestock trades.

NEW CONFLICT IS PRESAGED

A. Rosenberg Virtual Philosophical Dictator of Third Reich in Germany

By Louis P. Lochner, Associated Press Foreign Staff

Berlin, Feb. 2.—Appointment of Alfred Rosenberg as virtual philosophical dictator for the third Reich was regarded in church circles to-day as foreshadowing new conflict between Nazism and church fundamentalism.

Chancellor Hitler named Rosenberg head of the Nazi party's foreign policy division, and a bitter anti-Semite to supervise the "welt anschauung" (world viewpoint) philosophy which is to prevail throughout Germany by government decree.

Opposition to official recognition of a and Catholicism.

The "third religion," in their opinion, will be a pagan one, having its roots in a Germanic cult which has been growing rapidly in the last few months.

OPENS DEBATE IN TORONTO

Arthur Ellis Replies to Speech From Throne in Ontario Legislature

Toronto, Feb. 2.—Declaring the Hydro Electric Power Commission, born of and nourished by the Conservative government, was the greatest public utilities system in the world, Arthur Ellis, Conservative, Ottawa South, opened formal debate in the Ontario Legislature yesterday by moving the address in reply to the Speech from the Throne.

Dr. H. J. Davis, Conservative, East Elgin, was the seconder of the motion. He appealed to the government for still greater aid for agriculturists and livestock producers.

The House stood adjourned to-day in tribute to five members who died during the recess.

CHEAPER DOLLAR CUTS WAR DEBT

Robinson of Arkansas—said the Californian would offer the amendments himself this afternoon and predicted re-adoption of the measure with little or no debate. From the house, meanwhile, came word that plenty of support for the bill could be found there.

Already adopted once by the Senate, but held up since upon an administration request to reconsider. The Johnson Bill would penalize the buying or selling of bonds of any delinquent war debtor. Loans to such nations also would be banned.

The measure, as now phrased, would apply to all debtors except Finland. Only the refunding of issues that renewed old obligations and government operations in connection with stabilization would be expected.

Treasury officials estimated the theoretical decrease in the debts contracted on the old gold dollar basis to be about $5,055,000,000, unpaid funded debts total $12,352,000,000.

On the basis of the 59.06 per cent gold dollar Britain's debt would be cut from $4,636,000,000 to $2,738,000,000; France's $2,338,000,000 to $1,402,000,000.

The retaliatory measure was approved and sent to the House of Representatives without a record vote after administration leaders and Senator Hiram Johnson (Republican, California), author of the proposal, agreed to modifying amendments.

The measure first was passed unanimously January 11 with only a handful of Senators on the floor, but had been held up since by a motion to reconsider by Senator Joseph T. Robinson of Arkansas, the majority leader. Robinson pronounced the bill satisfactory to the administration.

As repassed, the bill provides penalties up to $10,000 and five years' imprisonment for any person or corporations to buy or sell any new securities or loan money to any foreign government or its subdivision which is in default in whole or in part on its obligations to this government.

The amendments approved would exempt refunding issues replacing old ones and exclude countries in default only on private debts, such as certain South American republics.

J. D. GALLOWAY RESIGNS POST

"We are going to have several active mining years in this province," Mr. Galloway told The Times this morning. "The gold mining industry is already booming and other forms of mining, such as silver, lead and zinc, are coming back. Capital is eagerly looking toward B.C. mines for opportunity and engineering advice will be required."

Mr. Galloway joined the mines department as assistant to the late W. Fleet Robertson twenty years ago, and later was resident engineer at Hazelton, B.C. In 1925 he succeeded Mr. Robertson as provincial mineralogist.

As a geologist, he has a high standing in the Dominion, being a Fellow of the Royal Society of Canada. He has been a leading figure among the engineers of the province for a number of years, and in 1933 was president of the Professional Engineers of British Columbia.

SEEK REPAIRS TO BOATHOUSE

Oak Bay Council Unwilling to Undertake Large Expenditure on Landing Wharf

Whether or not the Oak Bay council will continue its present plan of financially assisting the Oak Bay boathouse in its operation for the purpose of providing a landing for yachts and other boats owned in the district and an emergency station in case of drowning accidents, will be decided shortly by a meeting of the committee of the whole.

Present tenants of the boathouse are now seeking certain repairs and improvements which entail considerable expenditure, which, they feel should be payable by the municipality in the interests of public safety and convenience. They also suggested the council might grant a subsidy to enable them to purchase a new marine engine, which at all times would be on hand for emergencies.

Members of the council were hesitant regarding the whole policy, and announced opposition to any plan of subsidizing. The legal right of the council in this latter respect was also questioned.

After considerable discussion, during which members announced the boathouse had been a bugbear to the municipality for many years, it was decided the whole matter should be considered, and also the possibility of securing a tenant willing to make certain expenditures on the boathouse and float and operate it as a private concern.

MEMBER TELLS OF CROP RUIN

Droughts and Plagues "Act of God," Says A. M. Carmichael in House

Ottawa, Feb. 2.—Support for the government came from A. M. Carmichael (Progressive, Kindersley), who spoke in the address debate in the House of Commons last night. The Liberal amendment, he said, would have the effect of bringing on an immediate general election. He did not believe an election should be held at this time, but that the government should remain its full five years in office.

The amendment moved by Robert Gardiner (U.F.A., Acadia), described by Mr. Carmichael as "leader of that so-called "C.C.F." group, formed by an amalgamation of Farmer, Labor and Socialist parties—familiarly called "The Cocofeds"—would have both Conservative and Liberal parties retire in their favor. He could not support that."

Mr. Carmichael said he had been elected by the Progressive Association in his district, a party that believed members of Parliament should be free from all entangling alliances and at liberty to work solely in the best interests of their constituents. The Progressives had not affiliated with the "Cocofeds," nor with the Farmer-Labor Party, and he still remained independent of party.

Mr. Carmichael closed with the hope that the proposed public works programme would be carried out, and that some undertakings would be located in his constituency where the people are in a state of destitution, not because of government action or extravagance, but because of an act of God—droughts, plagues and pests that ruined the crops.

SENTENCED FOR THEFT

Toronto, Feb. 2 (Canadian Press).—Robert K. Hamilton, former York Township confectioner, was sentenced to from six to eighteen months in Ontario reformatory following his conviction on a charge of obtaining $150,000 from the Bank of Nova Scotia by false pretences. Jointly charged with Hamilton on original counts of theft, conspiracy and false pretences, Thomas Breaks, manager of the bank, was acquitted by the same jury on all counts.

BROADSIDE AGAINST C.C.F.

Want of Confidence Answered By Country, Declares H. Butcher, M.P.

Ottawa, Feb. 2. — Opening with a broadside against the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, Harry Butcher, Liberal, Last Mountain, spoke to the address in the House of Commons last night.

The sub-amendment to the address called for an expression of lack of confidence in the Liberal Party, as well as the government.

A vote might well be taken, only the rules of the House do not permit, on whether the House has confidence in the C.C.F., said Mr. Butcher. 'But the country already has answered that question.'

The C.C.F. had various platforms for the different provinces, charged the Liberal member.

To remove the wheat carry-over with its damaging influence on prices, arrangements might be made with each of several European countries to trade 25,000,000 bushels of wheat for their manufactured goods.

The time certainly had arrived when the companies acts of the Dominion and the provinces needed overhauling, Mr. Butcher continued.

Some financiers had been able to exercise their predatory habits by taking control of certain essential industries "in which their only interest is to bleed them white." Reference had been made earlier in the day to the milk industry and the manner in which huge fortunes had been piled up by the people handling the milk, while the producers had been reduced almost to beggary.

"The evidence already given before the Senate committee of the United States has been a terrible indictment of high finance in the United States and one wishes that a similarly exhaustive inquiry might be made into the history of some of our own enterprises, Canada Paper and Power for instance," the Liberal member said.

FINANCIAL BRIGANDS

"The financial brigands of whom I am complaining have, in many instances, chosen the necessaries of life and minor luxuries for which there is a great demand, for their operations," he added.

The House had a duty with respect to these men and he was hopeful that amendments to the Companies Act would prove restrictive measures against this sort of thing.

"If that duty is neglected a day of reckoning will surely come, and it may take a form distasteful to most honorable members."

Last session, in answer to a question placed on the order paper, he had been informed that the registrar under the Combines Act had investigated allegations of a combine among certain companies manufacturing radio parts and the findings had been sent to the Attorney-General of Ontario.

In answer to a further question as to what action was proposed, if any by the Dominion authorities in view of the fact that the Ontario Attorney-General had taken no action, he had been advised no further steps were contemplated.

The original complaint was filed by C. R. Gilpin, Niagara Falls, in June, 1930, who alleged a combine had existed for three years through the Canadian Radio Patents Ltd., owned by the Canadian General Electric Co. Ltd., Canadian Westinghouse Co. Limited, Canadian Marconi Co. Ltd., Northern Electric Co. Ltd. and Standard Radio Manufacturing Co. Ltd., now the Rogers Majestic Radio Corporation Ltd.

Tighter control over companies was necessary, said Mr. Butcher. The watering of stock should be a criminal offence. Reprensible practices now dealt with by civil courts should be made criminal offences. Payment of bonuses to managing officials should be an offence, and 'price concessions to interlocking interests" should be prohibited.

SECESSIONISTS ARE ATTACKED

Native Sons of Canada, Victoria Post No. 1, State Movement Sedition

Score Those Seeking to Separate Vancouver Island From Confederation

Action against persons preaching a doctrine of secession for Vancouver Island on the grounds they are traitors to Canada is sought in a resolution passed by the Victoria Post No 1, Native Sons of Canada, at their meeting yesterday evening.

The move, which aims to check the activities of persons advocating the separation of the island from the rest of Canada to become a Crown Colony, will be sent to the National Council of Native Sons of Canada with a recommendation it be placed before the Federal Government.

The resolution follows:

"Whereas Canada, although a member of the British Commonwealth of Nations and acknowledging allegiance with them to a common sovereign, is, in accordance with the Statute of Westminster (enacted by the British Parliament) a state independent of the other nations of the Commonwealth and of all outside nations; and

"Whereas citizens of the Dominion of Canada are therefore citizens of Canada alone and not, concurrently, citizens of another nation; and

"Whereas certain persons enjoying the advantages of Canadian citizenship on Vancouver Island are scheming to separate Vancouver Island from the Canadian federation and seek attachment for it to some other nation of the British Commonwealth;

MOVE INFERIOR

"Be it resolved that, in the opinion of this Assembly No 1, Native Sons of Canada, the present standing of Canada among the nations of the world and her potential wealth and prestige are too great for any portion of British Columbia to exchange its position in it for the inferior position of a separate unit in the British Commonwealth or that of a "Crown Colony"; and

"Be it further resolved that if those responsible for these seeds of secession have a true knowledge of Canada's political status, they are apparently deliberately preaching sedition and are disloyal to His Majesty, King George, King of Canada, and His Majesty's Government of the Dominion of Canada should take action against them as traitors to the Canadian nation; and

"Be it still further resolved that if these disloyal separatists are no longer desirous of retaining their Canadian citizenship there is no Canadian law that prevents them leaving Canada and reassuming the citizenship of some other nation; and

"Be it still further resolved that copies of this opinion be forwarded to the National Council of the Native Sons of Canada for transmission to His Majesty's Canadian Government."

TRAINING PLAN TO BE STUDIED

Local Committee to Consider Means of Giving Unemployed Courses

To study means by which the educational needs of Victoria unemployed might best be met through a system of voluntary training, those interested in matters educational yesterday evening appointed a committee of thirteen to make a survey at a meeting in the Chamber of Commerce. Mayor David Leeming presided over the gathering, called together by the Very Rev. C. S. Quainton, Dean of Columbia.

Speakers at the meeting referred to the possibilities of making such training vocational, some maintaining the cultural aspect should not be neglected.

Support of the teachers of the province for any such scheme was vouched by Harry Charlesworth, secretary of the British Columbia Teachers' Federation.

BROAD COURSE

Ira Dilworth, principal of Victoria High School and one of the guiding figures in the movement, expressed the view any course adopted should be sufficiently wide to cover development of character by the students through study along the right channels.

John Kyle referred to the wide facilities for education in Victoria and Dean Quainton spoke of the voluntary assistance promised for the move. Very little expense would be attached to the scheme, the latter said.

Following is the committee appointed to make the survey: Trustee P. E. George, John Kyle, Captain Walter Brown, Ira Dilworth, R. D. Lemmax, L. D. Good, H. Chrisford. Very Rev. Cecil Quainton, Dean of Columbia; Miss M. H. Blackley, Miss Margaret Clay, Atwell D. King, A. H. Hundleby and a member of the Ministerial Association yet to be named.

J. R. GRAY DIES AT CUMBERLAND

Cumberland, Feb. 2.—The death occurred last week of John Robert Gray, a resident of Cumberland for over forty years. He was born at Albion Mines, Stellarton, N.S., and had just passed his seventieth birthday. Before coming to British Columbia he ranched in Manitoba and in 1894 came to Cumberland where, with the exception of a few months in Ladysmith and two years in Victoria, he has lived ever since. He was employed with the Dunsmuir interests and later the Canadian Collieries, and for several years with the city police. He was a member of the Cumberland band.

He leaves his widow, two daughters, Mrs. Robert Grant of Horne Lake, and Mrs. John Hanna of Vancouver.

Funeral services were held on Sunday with the Rev. T. L. Hipp officiating.

FOUND DEAD IN LONELY CABIN

Canadian Press

Dawson Creek, B.C., Feb. 2.—Thought to have died suddenly in his sleep two months ago, the body of Zeb Groteau, fifty-one, homesteader, was only discovered January 22 in his lonely trapping cabin on Callihason Creek, near Pine Pass, 160 miles west of here, according to word just received.

No foul play is suspected as his furs were found intact. Shavings and kindlings all ready to light the morning fire, while a diary's last entry was November 27.

Constable Devlin and Coroner Chase left Thursday to bring back the body, a trip that will probably take one month.

His mother and several brothers survive in South Porcupine, Ont.

AID SOCIETY MAKES BUDGET

Seeks $4,500, Same Grant as Last Year, From City For 1934 Work

Directors of the Children's Aid Society have asked Victoria City to budget for a grant of $4,500 to the society this year, maintaining the same figure as that paid in 1933, in a letter filed at the City Hall yesterday.

The communication states the sum is the same as that which was found to be no more than was urgently required for the work of the society.

It points out the society has greatly reduced its expenses during the last few months, but is open at any time to increased liability.

The monthly city payment of $375 is requested for the continuance of old services and for the new preventive service instituted by the society.

If expenses increase, the society would seek more funds. If they decreased the society was prepared to inform the council it could carry on with less, the statement said.

The letter appears over the name of Frederick Kincaid, president of the Children's Aid Society.

RECORDS DATE BACK 3,000 YEARS

Associated Press

Berkeley, Cal., Feb. 2.—Records of daily events in an Asiatic kingdom, dead and buried by desert sands for 3,000 years, had been disclosed by Prof. H. P. Lutz of the University of California here to-day.

One ancient tablet, unearthed from the ruins of the kingdom, relates to a loan of seed barley, Prof. Lutz, assistant curator of the university's departments of Assyriology and Egyptology, said.

Prof. Lutz, who explained he has just succeeded in translating the tablets, said the kingdom, known as Assunnak, was apparently a tributary of Assyria. He said one of the tablets recorded the death of the Assyrian King Shamshi-Adad, known to have died in 1860 B.C.

The records, Prof. Lutz added, are those of a feudal lord, Ilush-Nasir. Dates of events are entered in relation to other events.

MAYOR PLANS TO BEAT SENATOR

Washington, Feb. 2.—Senator Huey P. Long, who figured prominently in the battle of Sands Point and in "the famous case of the Cartridge calling card," yesterday had another pursuer desiring to engage him in physical combat.

A bit of an electric atmosphere prevailed in the lobby of a fashionable hotel here. It stood as a possible battleground, since both principals reside at the hostelry.

Said six-foot Mayor T. Semmes Walmsley of New Orleans:

"I don't intend to place myself in the position of a mayor lying in wait for a senator, but if I see Long I'm going to beat him up."

Said Senator Long, self-styled "Louisiana Kingfish":

"Well, here's hoping he doesn't run into me."

Long was speaking in his room on the fourth floor of the hotel. Walmsley's words were delivered in his quarters on the ninth floor.

COURTENAY FUNERAL

Courtenay, Feb. 2.—Funeral services were held on Sunday for George Endall of Northey's Lake, north of Courtenay, who was found dead from heart failure in his chair last Thursday by a neighbor. Mr. Endall was born in the Midlands of England, and lived as a boy at Stratford-on-Avon, where he was educated at King Edward's Grammar School. He came out to Canada many years ago and lived for some time near Kamloops. He came to Courtenay in 1912 and took up land at Northey Lake. He served overseas with the 5th Divisional Ammunition Corps. A sister, Mrs. Maud Legres, in Leicestershire, Eng., survives. Funeral services, with military honors, were under the arrangement of the Courtenay branch of the Canadian Legion, the Rev. F. C. Chapman officiating. A firing party from the local company of the Canadian Scottish attended.

CIRCUS BUSINESS IN BAD SHAPE

Circuses and cemeteries recently had their NRA code hearings.

Capt. Billy Schultz, world famous lion tamer, urged a licensing system which would prevent promoters from taking performers and animals out on the road on a shoestring and leaving them stranded after going broke.

The circus business was revealed to be in a bad way. Only three railroad-traveling circuses and twenty-one motorized circuses went on the road last year. Eleven railroad circuses and twenty-one other motorized outfits were laid up.

Fiery battle broke out at the cemetery code hearing over alleged racketeering in memorial park lots sold for speculation.

WAR TALK SAID TO BE BASELESS

Capt. K. Ugaki, at San Francisco, Says U.S.-Japanese Questions Can Be Settled

Associated Press

San Francisco, Feb. 2.—Capt. Kanji Ugaki, Japanese naval officer, declared on his arrival here yesterday that talk of war between his country and the United States "is preposterous."

Capt. Ugaki, member of a group of Japanese navy officers arriving on the liner Asama Maru, said in a statement issued through Kaoru Nakashima, Japanse vice-consul here, that his country's army and navy were organized only for defensive purposes.

Between the United States and Japan, he added, "there never has been a single question which was not settled peacefully, and I am confident there will be no question in the future which cannot be adjusted by pacific means.

"The military and naval forces of Japan are so organized they will serve only for self protective and defensive purposes, and not for aggression.

"Of course, there may be some who are active in creating misunderstanding between the United States and Japan, but across the Pacific we bring to you the expression of goodwill and friendship of our people."

Included in the group of seven officers is Lieut.-Commander Naoe Hori who is going to New York to become naval attache of the Japan consulate there. Three of the officers will remain in the United States on an "inspection trip." The others will go to Europe.

SACRIFICE PAPER FOR WATER BILL

Associated Press

Susquehanna, Pa., Feb. 2. — U. G. Baker, publisher and editor of The Susquehanna Evening Transcript, campaigning against increased water rates, has announced he would permit the paper to be put up at sheriff's sale to satisfy a water bill of $21.70.

The sale is the first of more than 500 planned by the Canawacta Water Company to collect water rents.

The publisher states many residents of the community have pledged themselves not to bid on any of the property.

SUIT BROUGHT TO BLOCK COMBINE

Everett, Wash., Feb. 2.—No representative of the Sound View Pulp Company examined the books of the Olympic Forest Products Company of Port Angeles, before an agreement was reached for a merger with it and with the Rainier Pulp and Paper Company of Shelton, H. H. Fair of San Francisco had admitted to-day in the suit of minority stockholders to block the proposed $11,000,000 combine.

Fair was questioned at length upon technical details of the proposed merger.

In reply to queries, he said that the proposed stock allocation figure had been reached when directors of the companies involved decided that their fixed assets were almost identical. He said that the depreciation of the Olympic Forest Products Company plant had not been considered.

The Olympic Company, however, he testified, had incurred heavy losses, and for the year ending April 30, 1933, the depreciation had been near the $400,000 mark.

SENATOR MEIGHEN'S SPEECH

Senator Arthur Meighen suggested to his colleagues in the upper chamber at Ottawa on Wednesday night that Canada should study carefully and with a lot of sympathy the courageous efforts of the President of the United States to overcome the serious conditions with which that country is faced.

The government leader in the Senate continued by expressing the view that Canada was doing the best it could do to meet the unhappy situation in which it, along with the other countries in the world, found itself. Perhaps with the exception of Italy, this Dominion was making as great progress as any. Day by day, hour by hour, this great problem of the unemployed was being impressed on him, Senator Meighen said. "Young men of twenty years who have never known the joy of toil" were met on all sides. Great as the problems of this generation had been, the next would doubtless witness problems even more formidable—and it was to be hoped solutions would be found for them.

Senator Meighen is of the opinion that the regulation of industry is inevitable if the great complex business units of to-day are to survive. While there are some features of the United States plan which do not commend themselves to him, he looks with favor on the industrial code plans of the National Recovery Act. Then we have the report of Sir William Clark, High Commissioner in Canada for His Majesty's government in the United Kingdom, telling the Trade and Commerce Club of Toronto on the same night that "governments are taking an ever-widening interest in business and business must be planned, not only within the frontiers of a country, but internationally."

When the government leader of the Senate said that Canada was doing the best she could to meet the unhappy situation which confronts her, he was obviously letting down lightly the leader of the government in the House of Commons. Senator Meighen, by reason of the fact that he said this country should study carefully and with a lot of sympathy the courageous efforts of the President of the United States, obviously was implying that Canada should be doing more about her own problems than her federal government is doing.

The reference which Senator Meighen made to the youth of Canada, of course, was merely emphasizing perhaps the gravest problem of our time. The Prime Minister met the youth of Vancouver when he was on the Pacific Coast recently and his chief message to the assembled hundreds was a dissertation on the history of money. Nearly all of the young men present on that occasion were no doubt wondering where they could apply the knowledge which a good education had given them to obtain some of the material wealth—not everything, but necessary—in which Mr. Bennett seemed to be so intensely interested.

LET US HAVE OUR FLAG

There was no mention in the Speech from the Throne which Lord Bessborough delivered at the opening of Parliament last week of any discussion of a Canadian flag.

Surely this matter ought to be dealt with without the silly heat which has marked former discussions of the subject. Canada is the only Dominion which has no flag of her own. And she is the senior Dominion next to Great Britain. Australia, New Zealand, South Africa, the Irish Free State—all have their distinctive emblems. When the imperial conference was held in Ottawa Canada was the only Dominion—the hostess of the gathering—which could not fly her own flag.

Many designs have been suggested for a Canadian flag. Why not adopt a simple one which would be the Union Jack with a large Maple Leaf in the centre? Ten million, five hundred thousand people, governing themselves, and no flag of their own present an anomaly.

NO MORE "PULL"

A large section of the United States press is applauding the Roosevelt administration for ridding Washington of, as one commentator puts it, "those slick gentlemen who have combined practice at law with the holding of high party office."

Such attorneys have been a regular feature of life at the United States capital for years. A man who is a national committeeman of the party in power hangs out his shingle in Washington, and permits the public to believe that because of his political influence he is a good man to hire to fix things, to arrange things, to intervene in hearings before government boards. We quote this commentator again:

"This racket has been worked for a long time, and it has not reflected any great amount of credit on the men involved. Most of the time, of course, the self-appointed fixer does not really have the influence he pretends to have, and the cases he handles turn out about as they would if an ordinary lawyer handles them.

"But the racket has an unpleasant odor, and President Roosevelt does well to hit it sharply on the head."

CANADA'S ENGINEERS

On February 8 and 9 the annual convention of the Engineering Institute of Canada is to be held at Montreal. Delegates from all parts of the country are expected to attend. There will be a wide range of subjects up for discussion relating to recent advances in engineering science.

The advance in engineering science has been one of the outstanding features of the past few decades. Constantly new advances are being made. Ever since the formation of the institute, forty-seven years ago, then known as the Canadian Society of Civil Engineers, a whole host have come into being. Aeronautical engineering, radio engineering, present-day structural engineering as applied to modern skyscraper construction, may be mentioned as a few.

Some of these advances have been quite spectacular. Individual examples of their application have attracted public attention by their very magnitude, so that in a measure the man on the street has developed a greater appreciation of what the engineer is doing.

There are, however, other aspects of engineering science which may not be quite so well appreciated. The Earl of Bessborough, Governor-General of Canada, in an address at the last annual meeting of the institute, expressed this idea very aptly when he said: "The engineering profession is versatile and magnitude alone is not always a measure of attainment. Often particular problems present unusual difficulties, the solution of which calls for a high degree of technical ability. The layman can see, and in a measure appreciate, the big things, but he may not so easily grasp other features of engineering endeavor which revolve around laboratory and experimental work. The results achieved by these methods often involve long and arduous experimentation, and frequently change the whole course of industrial development. . . . The part played by the engineer in industry is an essentially modern development, and all signs point to engineering and industry being even more closely linked in the future."

Undoubtedly the engineer will be heard from in the future even more than he has been in the past. The fact that he is beginning to find a place in administrative and executive positions is a welcome sign. The world needs his genius and such occasions as the annual meeting of the institute, as well as the regular meetings of the local branches—of which there is one in Victoria—should be availed of as much as possible so that he may be kept abreast of the times.

WE SHOULD STAY IN

Senator A. D. McRae's suggestion that Canada withdraw from the League of Nations while there is what he calls an opportunity to do so "honorably," lest the Dominion become embroiled in a European war, is hardly a sound one.

Senator McRae's use of the term "honorably" ought to have carried with it some explanation. We do not propose to comment on his "judgment" that "a European war is a certainty within five years" because it carries no more conviction that did the statements of many European statesmen, who, in the early summer of 1914, declared that not for many years had the countries of the world—save, perhaps, the Balkans—been behaving themselves in such a peaceful manner.

We agree with Senator McRae in his view that "no Canadian life should be sacrificed on the future battlefields of Europe." But does he think that Canada's withdrawal from the League of Nations while there is what he calls an opportunity to do so "honorably" will help matters?

We would suggest that Canada, for more than a hundred years friendly with her neighbor on the south and with no possible chance of conflict, remain in the League and play her part in the cause of humanity's hope—and the interpreter of the views of the United States to the people of the British Empire.

The clouds of war may be hanging low; but this is no time for the throwing up of hands in despair; it is a time, however, when the men and women of the world ought to be making up their minds that the League of Nations become an increasingly-dominating force in the cause of civilization.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

ROOSEVELT'S SILVER POLICY

The New York Times

If it comes down to the question of a political move, there can be no doubt that President Roosevelt made a shrewd one when he provided a government market for all American-mined silver. This will not appease the rabid, but it will halt the moderate and the unconvinced. Many of the latter in Congress might have been induced to go along with the extremists had not the resident given the silver miners, as well as the gold miners, their bonus. Why should they ask more? They are thinking of selling their product at an artificial price, not of diluting the currency or embracing the myth of a great expansion of our trade in the Orient. Thus the practical and even the selfish argument will be strong for letting things alone for a while. Should it prevail, the President's control of Congress will have been strengthened, in the sense that he can still get what he wants from it and prevent it from doing what he opposes.

DEFINITION OF INFLATION

The Detroit Saturday Night

Professor Dingbat of Wamboodle College and Professor Rocking Horse of Haywire College, lived in houses just one mile apart. They visited each other frequently.

One evening they got into a discussion of the fact that they lived one mile apart—quite a distance to travel to see each other, and that it took them a half hour to walk it. After a time the brilliant question occurred to one of them why it would not be as satisfactory and even more so, in fact, to have the mile 10,500 feet, instead of 5,280 feet. If that change could be made they would then live only one-half mile apart.

That was pretty good as far as it went, but it would still take them a half hour to walk the disance between the houses. They then worked out the idea that if the hour was 120 minutes instead of 60 minutes (and why should it not be) they could walk the distance in a quarter of an hour. Then instead of being separated by one mile or one-half hour they would be separated by only one-half mile and one quarter of an hour.

But they used to carry books and other articles back and forth and then they decided that the pound should have thirty-two ounces instead of only sixteen ounces and then they would only have to carry one half as much weight.

That led to the thought that if they reduced the dollar from one hundred cents to fifty cents that would reduce their taxi fare in bad weather and would have less weight of money to carry around, if they ever got any.

At about this point the janitor came in and said: "If youse guys will get out now I will mop up and clean out the spittons."

A THOUGHT

For behold, the day cometh that shall burn as an oven; and all the proud, yea, and all that do wickedly, shall be stubble.—Malachi iv 1.

Pride hath no other glass to show itself but pride.—Shakespeare.

Loose Ends

A real opportunity is presented to the island at last—but are we wise enough to take it?—Mr. Bennett tells the simple truth in frank fashion—A professor has a ripe idea—and our girls are shown a real preparation for life.

By H. B. W.

OPPORTUNITY

A SAPIENT GENTLEMAN has written to this paper to urge that Vancouver Island should become a Crown colony so that, with the British navy stationed here, or part of it, all our unemployed youth would be employed on battleships and prosperity would return, as of old time.

This is a splendid vision. What higher ideal could be held before a free people than that its sons should all be employed on battleships? After all, what is left for them but carnage in this barren country, where nothing will grow, where there are no minerals, no timber, no fish, none of the necessities of life? Obviously our only chance of ever getting on our feet in such an uninhabitable place is to persuade the British navy to send some ships out here and put our boys to work on them, preparing to fight somebody. Then all we shall need to complete our prosperity is to find someone whom we can fight, for fighting always creates a demand for goods and gives everyone a job. It shouldn't be hard to find someone to fight in these times, so the scheme is perfect.

And for those who are too old or feeble to fight on the battleships, the Crown colony would offer other ample opportunities of honorable employment. The governor who would be sent out from Downing Street, of course, would not be content to live in the style of our Lieutenant-Governor. The real governor would found a court, a mighty retinue of retainers, of butlers, flunkies, bodyguards, ladies-in-waiting, courtiers, ambassadors, knights, barons and equerries.

Then none of our young men need despair of advancement in life. No matter how humble his station, the young man might aspire to a place as a flunky or even as a butler, if he couldn't make the grade on a battleship.

And how jolly and picturesque it would all be—the flash of swords, the crimson of uniforms, the roll of drums, the peal of the bugle, instead of all this dull business and endless debate of party politics! How much more satisfactory to be governed by a genteel knight from England (we could hardly expect a full-fledged lord at first but we might get one after a few years if we showed ourself worthy of the honor), how much more satisfactory to be governed by a real aristocrat, who knew nothing of the country and therefore would be free of all prejudice and party ambition, than by a vulgar legislature! I am all for the idea. It's just the scheme we need to prove our long-held contention that we are different from other people on this island. No one else outside this island has the sense to want to be a Crown colony.

CERTAINLY NOT

PREMIER BENNETT says he's not going to the country and many newspapers, with a strange sense of news, put large headlines on the announcement. Surely no one expected anything else. Governments under our system, which theoretically keeps them constantly under the control of the public, never go to the country when the public wants them to. Governments, when they have lost the confidence of the public completely, hang on as long as they can. Indeed, if you see a government hanging on past its four-year term you may be sure it has lost that confidence. If it hadn't it would hasten to get re-elected and so assure itself of another four years in office while it could.

This is called, by a delightful parliamentary sarcasm, responsible government. And we look down our noses quite properly at the poor Americans who can only remove their President every four years while we, with our more flexible system, can remove our governments at any moment through our parliament.

Mr. Bennett's only argument for not going to the country seems to be that the "business people" don't want an election. This is jolly. Naturally the business people whom Mr. Bennett comes into contact with don't want an election. They know it would remove Mr. Bennett and Mr. Bennett is the best friend of that sort of business people.

That sort of business people composes perhaps one ten-thousandth part of the electorate. The other 9,000 parts have only small businesses or none at all. But do not become annoyed because Mr. Bennett is swayed by the one ten-thousandth part. It has been running the country for years. Mr. Bennett is the first Prime Minister to admit the fact publicly and deserves to be commended for his charming frankness.

No, little children, you will get no early election because the House of Commons' majority will not disturb Mr. Bennett. It never does disturb anyone. The House of Commons' majority won't disturb Mr. Bennett because it doesn't want to disturb itself. This is not peculiar to this government or this parliament. It is a universal instinct of self-preservation, much deeper than politics. A sensible state would pay a man as much to resign from parliament as it pays him to stay in. Then you might get responsible government and in the end you would save a lot of money.

GIRLS

AT LAST THE world has discovered a really progressive educationist—Dr. Alexander J. O'Neil, assistant professor of education at Brooklyn College. This eminent authority has just said that college should institute a course which would teach girl students how to make up their faces "attractively and artistically." He says it is ridiculous for many schools to force girls to wash the make-up off their faces when they will only put it on again afterwards in great hideous smears.

"How much better it would be to take a saner point of view," says he, "and teach the girl how to make herself attractive according to the standard of refinement of the world! And cultured, refined women do use make up and do permit their daughters to do likewise. It seems to me that such instruction is not a 'fad' or a 'frill' but a very vital part of an education which should prepare for a life in the great world outside the school."

The professor likewise held that instruction in ordinary ballroom dancing should be part of the curriculum because a girl's ability to dance well has often been of greater value in securing for her a life of happiness than her ability to write well. For "if we think of education in terms of preparation for an abundant life, then certainly dancing, which gives a girl poise and makes her attractive in the eyes of males and perhaps is partly instrumental in securing her a husband and rescuing her from the fate of spinsterhood, must rank as a very important phase of our course of study."

WISDOM

HERE, AT LAST is wisdom, but I fear no one will pay any attention to it. I fear that the government of British Columbia is far too backward and old-fashioned to listen to it for a moment. I fear our girls must go on learning to write well, to dance badly and make-up hideously. They will still go on teaching our girls chemical formulas when some lessons in rouge and lipstick would fit them much better for their job, which is to acquire a man. They will school them in irregular Latin verbs in preparation for a life of dish-washing. They will train them for mending socks by pumping them full of algebra. They will teach them to wrangle with the vegetable Chinaman and the corner shopkeeper by an intensive study of geometry. They will prepare them to bear and raise children by a study of English literature.

The professor is quite right, though. If our education system wants to train girls for the life of average women, it will teach them to dance. It will teach them to keep thin. It will teach them to keep cheerful and smile at their husbands after a hard day in the washtub. It will teach them to listen to long male monologues about business, politics and other things that don't interest them in the least. It will teach them not to worry about tobacco, the reasonable use of liquor and other small vices. It will teach them how to hang on to their money. It will assuredly teach them how to make up and look prettier than nature intended in their case.

Then you may turn out girls prepared for their life's work, which is to get a husband and keep him. At present we are training girls, at great cost, for the learned professions and after a few years they run off and get married and then have to start their education from the beginning. There is a great chance for Minister of Education Weir to do something about this.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By ALINE MICHAELIS

PORTRAIT OF A GIRL

She is something of a pagan,
She is something of a saint,
And the combination makes her
(As you might imagine) quaint.

She has moments touched with laughter,
Cruel as a nymph's could be
Mocking at a luckless satyr
From a fountain or a tree.

She has hours still and pensive,
Musing in a prayerful mood
When all life, with fret and folly,
Seems a fleeting interlude.

She has days of wistful brooding,
She has times of heartless mirth,
And the combination makes her
Quite the dearest girl on earth!

RE C.C.F.

To the Editor:—On January 23, 1934, Capt. E. Philpott, M.C., of Toronto who, speaking at the coast recently, advocated the release of Communists, speaking in Edmonton and quoted in The Edmonton Journal of January 24, stated among otther things, "the C.C.F. proposes to wipe out capital," etc., and then goes on to say, "We will start out with the banks, insurance companies, trust companies and stock exchanges." "If necessary we will give Sir Herbert Holt a pension and the way out."

Again he states, "We do not propose confiscation; we will pay what they are worth for honest value."

Phew—what a job!

Will someone explain where the "wherewithall" is coming from to carry out these promises?

Trusting my ignorance will be pardoned on this matter.

CANTOR HITS TO BE PLAYED

Music From "Roman Scandals" to Be Offered at Empress Supper Dance

Music from Eddie Cantor's "Roman Scandals," which has just been received in the city from New York, will be played by Billy Tickle's orchestra at the Empress Hotel weekly supper dance to-morrow night.

Mr. Tickle always makes it a point to present the very latest dance hits of the season for the entertainment of the hotel supper guests and this week he plans to offer a pleasant surprise.

The music from "Roman Scandals" is being played here to-morrow for the first time by a Victoria orchestra. Some of the numbers are "Keep Young and Beautiful," "No More Love" and "Build a Little Home."

There has been a brisk demand for table reservations for the supper dance.

The special cabaret attraction this week will be put on by Miss Thelma Stratford and Miss J. Kathleen Mann, who will present a musical comedy dance number.

BOVRIL

BUILDS STRENGTH QUICKLY

TO RELIEVE CATARRHAL DEAFNESS AND HEAD NOISES

If you have Catarrhal Deafness or are hard of hearing or have head noises go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength) and add to it ¾ pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take one tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal Deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial. (Advt.)

MAYOR OPENS NEW CABARET

Big Crowd at Belmont Cabaret and Grill Yesterday Evening

The latest addition to the entertainment resources of Victoria—the new Belmont Cabaret and Grill—was formally opened to the public yesterday evening, when a large gathering assembled in the spacious ballroom in the Belmont Building for the auspicious occasion. Mayor Leeming, who formally opened the cabaret, congratulated the managers, Mr. Alan King and Mr. Arthur Groves, upon their initiative and enterprise, complimented the orchestra upon its playing, and wished the venture every success, a wish which was enthusiastically endorsed by the many guests.

MODERNISTIC DESIGN

The ballroom is modernistic in design and decoration and the color scheme of pale amber, black and orange made a particularly effective background for the charming gowns worn by the ladies. On the tables were bowls of orange colored berries and greenery, which added to the attractive appearance of the room.

The lighting is a special feature and the orchestra platform has a most novel and cleverly designed background, which represents a silhouette of the musicians on a gold curtain. This is the work of a Victoria designer and artist.

THE GUESTS

Among those who received invitations to the opening dance, and the majority of whom were present, were Brigadier and Mrs. J. Sutherland Brown, Capt. and Mrs. R. H. Fort, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Mt. View P.-T.A. Card Party And Dance Success

The Mount View High School Parent-teacher Association held another well-organized dance and card party at the Mount View High School on Wednesday.

In the dancing, the statue dancing proved to be a popular and graceful item. Prizes for this were won by Miss T. Brox and G. Hutcheson, while Miss Edna Raper and W. Hirons won the spot dance prizes.

The next entertainment will take place on Wednesday, February 14, St. Valentine's Day, so the committee are busy with extra special and appropriate preparations for this event.

Your Baby and Mine

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

DOES YOUR CHILD DISLIKE HOME DUTIES?

One grievance mothers often voice is that the child seems to be lazy and careless at home, but is ambitious and careful at school. The child is polite in company, but rude to the home folks. The child is eagerly helpful to a stranger, but won't lift a finger at home.

EVERYTHING DISTASTEFUL

When such a state of affairs exists, the mother is certainly arousing ungovernable antagonism in the child. Everything initiated at home, everything supervised by the mother, is so distasteful to the child that he repudiates it and refuses to be a partner to it. This situation needs careful and honest analysis. There are maternal attitudes which are almost certain to arouse the growing child's antagonism, and the mother should ask herself if she is guilty of them.

The dictatorial mother, ignoring the child's own likes or dislikes, says sternly, "Now do this, do that." Her attitude is that her word is law, and every order must be carried out to the letter.

TALK THINGS OVER

The more tactful, and eventually the more successful way, is to talk over the daily tasks with the child. Here are certain things to be done. You and I together want to work them out. For which ones would you prefer to be responsible? If it is impossible to allow a choice of tasks, at least after delegating them to the child, let her do them her own way and, within limits, in her own time. Nagging every step of the way arouses no love for the duties being done.

Nearly every child will work better at school because of the companionship. So often mothers disdain helping a child, yet both work better in company than alone and tasks get done in a speedier and more efficient way. Tasks at school have novelty, those at home none. Teachers are past masters in stirring up enthusiasm for work, mothers past masters at killing any enthusiasm.

If the mother cracks the whip, punctuates the day with orders, regulations, rules, reminders, scoldings, and punishment, she provokes rudeness in the irritated child. The point is that the wrong response is being encouraged by the wrong methods. The mother should be warned that her course in training an agreeable and helpful and respectful child is wrongly directed. If she will listen to herself critically and put herself in the child's place, she will undoubtedly find the answer.

PARIS FOILING STYLE PIRATES

Buyers Must Have "Passports" to Enter Fashion Shows

Paris, Feb. 2. (By Adelaide Kerr, Associated Press). — The dressmaking world had launched a new attack against style copyists at spring shows to-day when designers admitted only those with "buyers' passports" to the displays.

The action was in line with a recent decree of the Association for the Protection of Artistic and Seasonal Industries, to which fourteen of the largest houses here subscribed.

With the first showings of members of the association, buyers arrived to find saleswomen stationed at stairs and entrances, and had to present their cards several times.

TO FOIL "PIRATES"

The purpose of the move is to keep out of the style showings the "pirates" who slip into the showings and make sketches of models from which copies are made and sold at much lower prices than legitimately purchased models can be placed on the market.

More than 2,000 of these "passports" have been issued to American and European buyers.

Among the members of the organization are Patou, Lanvin, Lelong, Mainbocher, Molyneux, Papuin, Schiaparelli, Vionnet, Worth, Maggy Rouff, Marcel Rochas, Bruyere, Jenny and Callot Soeurs.

SLENDER SILHOUETTES

Spring frocks shown displayed a slender fitted silhouette somewhat less closely moulded to figures than the winter's profile.

They were fashioned with slightly longer skirts. Many had semi-high necklines.

There were beige and grey lame wools having flittering gold threads, diamond-patterned and herringbone wools, sober crepes and discreet prints.

A flash of color was generally noticeable in accessories such as scarfs and belts, rather than in the frocks themselves.

The sports mode was designed on loose and easy fitting lines, decreeing comfort first. Many grey and beige wool coats were very loose and of three-quarter length. Some were worn with matching two-piece frocks or colorful artificial silk sports frocks—for example, a beige coat, chartreuse green frock, and a brown kerchief knotted about the throat.

VALENTINE TEA FOR OAK BAY W.A.

Plans for a Valentine tea to be held on Friday, February 9, at 3 o'clock, were made by the Oak Bay United W.A., at the regular business meeting, held yesterday afternoon, in the church parlor, with the president, Mrs. A. J. Gerry, in the chair. A programme will precede the tea, during which an ensemble composed of pupils of Miss Dorothy Francis will give selections. Solos will be given by Mrs. Arthur Dowell, pianoforte numbers by Miss Ailsa Braidwood, and recitations by Mrs. G. Downes.

Plans were made for the members to assist one day at Sunshine Inn. Mrs. Charles Hudson was appointed as convener for the anniversary supper, to be held at the church, on March 12, at 6.30 p.m. The devotional period was led by Mrs. E. Hipkin.

Present Prizes To Pianoforte Pupils

A large audience of interested parents and friends gathered at the home of Mrs. Gladys M. Hick, L.A.B., 1409 Hillside Avenue on Wednesday, the occasion being a pianoforte recital by her pupils and the distribution of certificates of the Associated Board of the Royal Schools of Music, London.

W. A. Hick presided. The programme, which consisted of solos, duets and a trio, was well rendered. There was a splendid sense of rhythm throughout, many of the pupils displaying much promise. The performers were: Catherine Angus, Marguerite Fawcett, Marjory Hughes, Dorothy Cross, Joan Gill, John Lumley, Hedley Rowell, Kenneth Wellwood, Grace Rowell, Dorothy Jealouse, Stanley Lock, Ira Green, Louise Eaton, Frances Rowell, Phyllis Wilkinson, Alice Hipwood, Bernard Hick, Doris McBain, Phyllis Hick, Peggy Sedgman, Howard Sedgman, Nancy Cameron, Elizabeth Angus, Jack Fawcett.

At the close of the programme Dr. Wm. Russell, in his usual pleasing manner, presented the certificates, also prizes, that were awarded by Mrs. Hick to the pupils attaining high marks in their respective grades.

Those receiving certificates and prizes were: Bernard Hick, Ira Green, Alice Hipwood, Howard Sedgman, Kenneth Wellwood, Nancy Cameron, John Lumley, Hedley Rowell, Phyllis Hick.

Vocal solos were rendered by Mrs. Hardy, accompanied by Miss May Hick; Miss Gladys Marchant, accompanied by Mrs. G. H. E. Green; also violin and piano duets by the Misses Raper, all of which were much appreciated and added to the enjoyment of the evening.

Sister MARY'S KITCHEN

USE OF CANNED TOMATOES
By SISTER MARY

The housewife who keeps canned tomatoes on hand never lacks variety for her table. Vitamins also are supplied economically and abundantly.

In many instances, canned tomatoes prove as satisfactory as fresh ones. Numerous dishes, such as soups, stews and scallops lose none of their interest and savoriness when made with the canned product.

Some cooks strain tomatoes before reheating for the table because enough water cooks out to form sufficient juice to suit their taste. One of the best ways to utilize this juice is to make a tomato jelly salad. Any other vegetables left from the meal can be added to the juice and all simmered together with a few slices of onion, whole cloves, parsley and celery leaves. Add salt and sugar as necessary and strain and measure the seasoned juice. A little lemon juice or vinegar may be needed to give "point" to the salad by making the jelly pleasantly tart. Use one and one-half tablespoons granulated gelatine to two cups of tomato juice in place of the customary one tablespoon of gelatine to one pint of liquid. Pour jelly into molds and let stand several hours to chill and become firm. Unmold and serve on lettuce with mayonnaise.

KINDS OF MOLDS TO USE

Individual molds always are attractive, but if you do not happen to have any try using baking powder cans. Mold the jelly in pound or half-pound cans, unmold and cut in slices for serving. These slices of jelly can be served alone on a bed of lettuce or used in such combinations as a slice of canned pineapple between two slices of tomato jelly; mixtures of cream cheese, chopped nuts and olives between slices of the jelly or a combination of chopped celery, green pepper and Chinese cabbage topping a slice of jelly.

A good way to use the tomatoes from which the juice was strained is in scalloped tomatoes. A combination of tomatoes and onions or tomatoes and canned corn is put into a buttered baking dish in alternating layers with toast cubes or cracker crumbs, making the first and last layers of crumbs. This is baked twenty-five or thirty minutes in a hot oven and served from the baking dish.

Codfish, spaghetti and tomatoes is an excellent combination and furnishes a one-piece dish for luncheon or supper at small expense.

Do not forget that hearty dish known as Spanish rice which combines rice, tomatoes and chopped meat in such a savory fashion.

The codfish, spaghetti and tomato combination may be new to you. The recipe follows:

CODFISH, SPAGHETTI AND TOMATOES

One-fourth pound salt codfish, 1 cup spaghetti broken in small pieces, 1 pint canned tomatoes, 2 bay leaves, 1 small onion, 1 tablespoon minced parsley, 1 tablespoon oil, 2 tablespoons chopped olives.

Soak the codfish in lukewarm water for two hours or longer. Drain and cut in small dice. Cook spaghetti in boiling salted water until tender. Drain. Simmer codfish and tomatoes with bay leaves for twenty minutes. Remove bay leaves. Cook onion, thinly sliced, and parsley in the oil for five minutes. Any kind of salad oil or butter can be used. Add spaghetti and tomato mixture to onion and parsley and cook five minutes longer, stirring to prevent sticking. Serve very hot.

TO-MORROW'S MENU

Breakfast: Stewed prunes, cereal, cream, crisp broiled bacon, cornmeal muffins, milk, coffee.

Luncheon: Vegetable soup, toast sticks, salmon and lettuce open sandwiches, canned peaches, milk, tea.

Dinner: Codfish, spaghetti and tomatoes, stuffed beet salad, steamed dried apricot pudding, milk, coffee.

CHAPTER AIDS MANY CAUSES

Sir James and Lady Douglas I.O.D.E. Review Year of Activity

Mrs. Colin Cummins Re-elected Regent at Annual Meeting Yesterday

In order that the chapter may carry on the fine work inaugurated by Mrs. R. B. McMicking twenty-two years ago, the regent, Mrs. Colin Cummins, asked for the co-operation and interest of all the members during the coming year, at the twenty-second annual meeting of the Sir James and Lady Douglas Chapter I.O.D.E. held yesterday when reports of secretaries were received showing that the chapter has kept up all its commitments during the last year.

In expressing thanks to the retiring vice-regents, Mrs. C. T. Teasdale and Mrs. Wm. Barrowclough, the regent spoke of their successful decoration of the chapter's table in the contest held by the Hudson's Bay Company during the summmer. The commemorations of the birthday of Victoria on March 14 and of the birthday of British Columbia on November 19 were successfully carried out, and Heather Day on August 26 was convened by Mrs. Walter Burton, recalling the leaving of the first contingent for the Great War in 1914.

SECONDARY EDUCATION

The chapter gives special place to the support of the secondary education work of the Municipal Chapter and has contributed $113.50 in cash to that fund during the last year. Parcels of reading matter have been sent to isolated schools, a library to the Alert Bay School and books presented to the Sir James Douglas and Oak Bay High Schools. Fifty calendars have been sold and distributed personally to schools, public buildings and soldiers' organizations.

The chapter has been addressed on empire subjects by V. L. Denton, A. B. McKelvie, Mrs. A. Mackenzie, Mrs. A. E. Hopkins and Miss Bowron, and has sponsored a resolution sent to the B.C. Historical Society asking that a mark or tablet be placed at Tete Jaune Cache to perpetuate the names of the intrepid pioneers of the overland party of 1862, which has been endorsed by Municipal Chapter.

The chapter is a member of the local League of Nations Society, is affiliated with the Local Council of Women and makes a monthly contribution to the Travelers' Aid of the Y.W.C.A., also to the Girl Guides' Association, the Sea Cadets' Bugle Band and the Red Cross Workshop.

OFFICERS CHOSEN

The officers returned for 1934 were the regent, Mrs. Colin Cummins; first vice-regent, Miss Josephine Crease; second vice-regent, Miss McMullin; secretary, Mrs. A. M. Boyd; treasurer, Mrs. James Shaw; echoes secretary, Mrs. John Rogers; standard bearer, Miss E. B. Hill.

The honorary regent, Mrs. R. B. McMicking, took the chair at the annual meeting during the reading of the regent's address.

At the business meeting previous to the annual meeting preliminary arrangements were made to hold a pioneer luncheon to mark the birthday of Victoria on March 14.

The report of the municipal chapter was brought in, and members signified their intention of attending the Founders' Day tea at the Hudson's Bay Company's tea rooms on February 13 at 4 p.m., to which members may bring their friends.

CENTRAL W.C.T.U. HEAR DR. HENRY

Interesting experiences connected with temperance work in Ontario, Saskatchewan and British Columbia were recalled by Rev. Dr. E. A. Henry in his inspiring devotional talk given before the Central W.C.T.U. yesterday afternoon at the Y.W.C.A. Mrs. M. C. Wilkinson, the president, was in the chair.

The president introduced Mrs. A. J. McWilliams, of Vancouver, provincial corresponding secretary, who brought greetings from the Provincial W.C.T.U. Brief reports of the annual meeting of the Victoria Temperance League, also the Local Council of Women, were given by the president and Mrs. William Grant, respectively.

The union decided to sponsor the essay and poster contest. Plans were made for the Frances Willard Memorial day, which will be observed on February 15 at the home of Mrs. Grant, Bay Street.

Lake Hill Centre—The monthly meeting of Lake Hill Community Centre will be held this evening at 8 o'clock.

THAT DEPRESSED FEELING IS LARGELY LIVER

Wake Up Your Liver Bile . . . Without Calomel, And Feel Like a Million Dollars.

Nothing can put your system out of kilter more quickly than your liver. All it has to do is stop pouring its daily two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels—and life certainly gets grey.

That sluggish flow of bile slows up digestion and elimination and makes you "feel punk". Your stomach acts up—gas, bloating, sourness, pain. Your breath is bad and the taste in your mouth is nasty. Your head aches. Skin is blotchy. All, of course, because your system is full of poisons.

Mere bowel movers like salts, oil, mineral water, roughage, laxative candy or chewing gum are not good enough to correct this condition entirely. You're livery and you must wake up your liver bile to be happy again.

Avoid calomel (mercury). The thing for you is a box of Carter's Little Liver Pills. They never upset you because they're purely vegetable, gentle and safe; but how they do change your view on life!

Don't waste your money on substitutes. Be definite. Ask for Carter's by name—and get them! Look for the name, Carter's, on the red label. 25c. at all druggists. 60

COMPANY SEEKS TIME EXTENSION

Notice that the Canadian Northeastern Railway Company will apply to the Legislature for an extension of time for completion of lines which were to be built by 1934, has been filed at the Parliament Buildings.

The Canadian Northwestern Railway Company was formerly known as the Portland Canal Short Line Railway Company. It was organized by Hon. H. H. Stevens, and subsequently sold to the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company. It was given a charter in 1929 to build a line of railway from Stewart, B.C., to Fort Graham, and a branch to the Yukon boundary. The present application is to hold this charter open.

HOROSCOPE

"The stars incline, but do not compel."

SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 3, 1934

This is an unimportant day in planetary direction, according to astrology, but adverse aspects are mildly active.

The morning is a good time to plan big enterprises and seems to favor the pushing of mercantile affairs. Small merchants should benefit.

The wise will not seek any form of influence, political or social, while this configuration prevails. It is well to avoid those from whom favors are desired.

Although there is a sign read as presaging the bestowal of long-delayed political patronage, it is well not to push claims to recognition under this sway.

Women are under threatening stars that menace romances as well as everyday experiences. Disappointments for those whose ambitions lead away from their homes are indicated.

Girls should make this a period of intensive preparation for wage-earning occupations. Super training is to be demanded by employers of the future, it is forecast.

Under this planetary government mothers may have trouble in regard to the wardrobe of their growing daughters, who should remember the old saw, "Handsome is as handsome does."

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a year of progress, but there may be a temptation to neglect business affairs for pleasure. Women should be careful to avoid too much social dissipation.

Children born on this day probably will be magnetic in personality and wide-awake intellectually. Many extraordinary men and women belong to this decan of February in which many artists appear.

Sidney Lanier, Southern poet, was born on this day, 1842. Others who have celebrated it as a birthday include Horace Greeley, 1811, famous New York editor; Albert Sidney Johnston, 1803, soldier, and Edwin Adams, 1834, actor.

The Burnside Lawning Bowling Club held their annual club social on Wednesday evening. Fourteen tables of progressive five hundred were in play. The winners of the ladies' prizes were Mrs. G. Vallance and Mrs. David Ramsay; gentlemen, Mr. Byng and Mr. Myers. Refreshments were served, after which all enjoyed dancing until midnight. The ladies of the club are arranging a series of bridge games to take place in the near future.

B.C. Musicians In Symphony

The Vancouver Symphony Orchestra, under the baton of Allard de Ridder, will play Monday evening. This fine body of musicians has gained much since last playing in Victoria. Perhaps this is because the orchestra enjoys the inestimable privilege of having Mr. de Ridder resident in Vancouver and consequently in closer touch with the instrumentalists who perform under his baton.

A very fine programme has been prepared for the concert. This programme is the one to be played on Sunday in Vancouver. It is the ambition of the committee to have a full house greet this splendid organization when it plays in Victoria. The personnel of the orchestra is composed of British Columbia musicians.

CALL of the WEST

by R. G. MONTGOMERY

CHAPTER XLVII

Contrary to the expectations of the doctor and to all rules of convalescence, Dona did not suffer a setback. Asper brought her news from the room down the hall, news that he made encouraging and bright. He was sitting on the foot of her bed smiling at her in his rough way when Dona suddenly remembered something.

"Where is Dud? I haven't seen him since yesterday afternoon."

Asper's wide smile faded and he tried to give her an answer that was casual. "Oh, he's around here."

Dona knew instantly that something was wrong. Her father could not cover anything up while he was looking straight into her face—Dona knew him too well.

"Something has happened to Dud," she said simply. "Better tell me all about it, Dad. I won't make any fuss."

Asper looked at his daughter for a moment while he cast about for a way to tell her. Finally, he plunged in, but immediately hedged.

"He took your car and went to the city."

Dona's soft lips curved into a sudden smile that bewildered the troubled Asper. She was actually smiling.

"When did he go?" she asked.

Asper grunted with distinct disapproval. Dona was a puzzle to him in a great many ways. Here she was sitting up in bed looking almost happy, in fact radiant, while he told her that her husband had gone.

"He'll come back." Dona gazed dreamily out of the window as she spoke. She was not thinking about Dudley Winters except to be thankful that he had made the way out very easy. "He's chasing some crazy clue," she added.

"He may not come back at all. He left pretty permanently," Asper finished lamely.

Dona replied with a little laugh. She reached out and took her father's hand. With a squeeze, she pulled him around until she could look into his eyes. Asper gave her his attention with sudden interest.

"I hope it is permanent," she whispered.

Asper snorted but not with complete conviction.

"Because he is not your son-in-law." Dona's cheeks colored beautifully, her eyes shone.

Asper gazed at her without speaking. His mind was flashing back over the happenings of the past few weeks and he was checking up many little incidents. Finally he smiled and patted her hand. He was too relieved to be angry. "How and why did you do it?" he asked.

"It was Dud's idea. He got the certificate signed up and we were to use it to get you back to the city." Dona was serious now.

Asper's eyes dimmed a little as he watched her small hands working patterns on the quilting of the comforter. She would have gone through with it for his sake.

"You would have married Winters to save your old dad?" He asked the question, knowing the answer.

Dona squeezed his hand. Asper got to his feet with a weak attempt at a grunt. "I better get in and see about that crazy buckaroo," he said gruffly as he strode to the door.

"Take good care of him," Dona called after him.

Asper's answer was swallowed up by the slamming of the door. She sat and looked out of the window. Plans piled themselves up in her mind, the most compelling one being to get up and go to Stan's side.

The doctor came in and found her curled up with her chin propped in the palms of her hands and her lips parted in a dreamy smile. He stood looking down on her in surprise.

"You will not need any attention from me," he greeted her. "You are the most alive of any patient I ever had."

"I'm getting up pretty soon," Dona announced. "I'm going to help with your new patient."

The doctor looked keenly at her. "You cannot help with him. You will do more good by acting just as I tell you."

"To-morrow I will?" Dona made a question of it.

"We'll see," the doctor was suddenly all professional dignity. "With you and your father both around under foot I could do nothing for him and he is a very sick man."

Dona accepted the ruling with reservations, but she did accept it. She had learned to have a great deal of respect for the tall medical man who served as company doctor.

She spent an impatient morning waiting for news from the room down the hall. Asper came in twice, but his assurances that Stan was getting on well did not ease Dona's longing to go to him.

That afternoon Asper carried Dona out on the porch and fixed her in a mass of pillows where she could look out over the valley. He sat down beside her and gazed reflectively out over his timber holdings.

"Tell me what really happened to you while you were riding?" Dona finally asked.

"I rode down into Pass Creek," Asper began.

"And found just what I found," Dona cut in. "I tried to tell you, but you would never let me."

Asper nodded. "I wish I had listened."

"And then what?"

"I caught Swergin on the trail and disarmed him. I intended to bring him in, but one of his men came up behind us and I was covered. Swergin took me to a cabin and tied me up." Asper's eyes grew dark as he remembered.

"He threatened you?" Dona asked breathlessly.

"He told me his whole scheme of robbery, then went out and set fire to the cabin." Asper tossed his black cigar away.

"The coward!" Dona gasped.

"Ball came in and saved me. I sent him on down here to head Swergin off and I stayed to fight the fire and keep it out of the timber." Asper stopped as though about to add something.

"Did Stan Ball tell you why he came back?" Dona asked.

Her question was answered by a voice from the steps. Dona and Asper turned to see a dusty cowboy standing grinning at them; it was Malloy. "I went after him," Malloy stated briefly.

"You did?" Asper showed his surprise.

"You knew Stan Ball was not what we thought?" Dona asked slowly.

"Knew it from the start, but he would never let me say a word or butt in." Malloy sat down on the top step. He was hot and tired, but he was eager for news about Stan. "Is the kid all right?" he asked.

"You can see him to-morrow," Asper promised.

"Did that, Swergin, get in a shot?" Malloy was plainly surprised.

It was Dona who answered. "I did it. I thought he was getting away with another killing, and I shot him."

Malloy looked at her unbelievingly for a full minute, then his grin spread widely. "You fan a mean gun," he said and started to get up.

"Don't run off. I want to ask you a lot of questions," Dona said smilingly.

Malloy grinned and dropped back on the porch step.

Asper got up. "I better see about my patient." With a wink at Malloy, he strode inside.

"I want you to tell me all about Stan Ball," Dona said simply.

Malloy dodged a reply.

"How about this feller, Winters?" Malloy asked bluntly.

"We were not married. We tried to fool father and make him leave this country with us." Dona spoke frankly, too.

"That's why he felt free to skip out with that little senorita from over the ridge," Malloy spoke deliberately. "I figured he was about half all right."

Dona started, then got a grip on herself. Malloy had said more that he might have had he known that she only knew half of the story. "That accounts for all his riding," she said with a smile that hinted she had known all the time.

SURPLUS FOR 1933 SHOWN

Oak Bay Completes Year With Balance Excluding Expenditure on Sea Wall

The annual financial statement of Oak Bay, indicating the council had been able to show a small surplus, outside of the capital expenditure on the new sea wall, was presented to the council yesterday evening by R. F. Blandy, treasurer.

The expenditure on the sea wall, while actually included in the year's disbursements, was not considered a 1933 expense in view of the fact that the money for this purpose was derived from a portion of the cash balance set aside in former years.

While the tax levy for the year was greater than in 1932, percentage of collections showed a drop, consequently reducing municipal revenue for the year. The levy was $203,034, compared with $201,537 for the year before. The percentage of collections was 85.2 per cent last year, in comparison to 87.2 per cent for 1932. Actual receipts for the year totaled $298,462, a drop of more than $18,000 over 1932. The total expenditure was $300,412, the figure for the previous year being $327,972. Of this reduction, $9,293 was effected by the school board.

The report, in part, follows:

"We are fortunate in possessing a cash balance with which to start the year, and a substantial surplus in our sinking funds. These funds have been built up slowly over a term of years. They represent very little of the individual taxpayer's money, but in the aggregate are a potent factor in "keeping the taxes down." In 1933 our general revenue from interest was $15,030, and the payment to the bank for our current loan was the small sum of $92. We only needed to borrow for two months.

"The condition of the funded debt shows a healthy improvement. During the year we required to sell only one $720 debenture. This was sold by tender on a 5½ per cent basis, equal to a provincial rating. We retired $54,950 of matured debt, and $17,000 of unmatured debt. These retirements included the last of our half-million dollar pre-war local improvements. The sinking funds were improved by various changes in our portfolio."

SWEDISH PRINCE SELLS OWN BOOKS

Canadian Press

Stockholm, Feb. 2.— Authors who find difficulties in marketing their works could take a tip from Prince Wilhelm of Sweden. He sells his own books.

Behind the counter in one of Stockholm's leading departmental stores the Prince stands and talks to customers. They line up in front of him and buy. As an added inducement the royal salesman signs dedications in the books he sells. His salesmanship was enlisted in a campaign to stimulate public interest in books and raise money to help impecunious authors.

During the campaign the 450th anniversary of the printing of the first book in Sweden was celebrated at the Royal National Library.

The opera is the second of the four music-dramas forming the composer's great "Ring," and, with Arthur Bodanzky conducting, will be sung in German by the following artists: Paul Althouse, tenor; Emmanuel List and Ludwig Hofmann, bassos; Gertrude Kappel, Frida Leider, Dorothee Manski, Phradie Wells, Philine Falco, Margaret Halstead and Elda Vettori, sopranos; Karin Branzell and Ina Bourskaya, mezzo-sopranos, and Doris Doe, contralto. The broadcast will be heard in this district over station KOMO, Seattle.

HORNBY ISLAND PIONEER PASSES

Cumberland, Feb. 2.—The death occurred on Wednesday evening at the home of Mrs. M. E. Slade, Royston, of Miss Elizabeth Macrone, a resident of Hornby Island for the last thirty years. The late Miss Macrone was seventy-four years old. Born in Scotland she came out to British Columbia thirty years ago, and for the last fifteen years made her home with Mr and Mrs. Day. Miss Macrone was highly respected by her neighbors on Hornby Island and was an active worker of the Women's Institute.

Funeral services were held from Cumberland with the Rev. H. T. Allen officiating. Pallbearers were: G. Harwood, Charles Pester, Wm. Merrifield Worden, S. A. Slade and Leslie Merrifield.

Uncle Wiggily and the Bear's Shadow

By Howard R. Garis

"What are you making, Uncle Wiggily?" asked Mr. Wibblewobble, the duck gentleman, one day as he saw the rabbit gentleman out in his garage with some sticks, a sled and an old bed sheet.

"I am making a flying sled," answered the rabbit.

"A-flying sled!" quacked Mr. Wibblewobble. "Don't you mean a boat? I see you have a sheet for a sail."

"I made an ice boat the other day," spoke Uncle Wiggily and when I was giving Mrs. Twistytail a ride on it we had to jump off because the boat was headed for a hole in the ice."

"That was too bad," quacked the duck. "So you won't make another ice boat?"

"No, I'm going to make a flying sled. My wife says there is no reason why, after you have coasted down hill, you cannot stay on the sled and go riding up again."

"It would save a lot of work," said Mr. Wibblewobble.

"It surely would," agreed the rabbit. "Only it can't be done quite as easily as my wife thought. She and I went coasting and we both wished very hard that we could coast back up the hill. But we didn't and I had to pull my wife on the sled up hill."

"Was it hard?" asked the duck.

"Very hard. But it was then I got the idea of a flying sled and now I am making it and I think I shall never again have to walk back up hill after I have coasted down. It will be a great invention."

"It will if it works," quacked the duck.

"I am sure it will work," spoke Mr Longears. "All I am going to do is to put a boat mast and sail on my sled."

"Then what happens?" asked the duck.

"I coast down the hill with the sail furled, the same as you carry an umbrella closed when it isn't raining," answered the rabbit.

"Ah, but I never carry an umbrella," quacked Mr. Wibblewobble. "You see we ducks don't mind getting wet."

"That's so. I had forgotten," laughed the bunny gentleman. "Anyhow I coast down the hill on my sled with the sail furled. When I get to the bottom of the hill I'll stay right on my sled, hoist the sail and the wind will blow me up. I won't have to walk with my flying sled."

"If," quacked the duck.

"If what?" asked the rabbit.

"If the wind happens to blow the right way to send you flying up the hill," answered the duck. "If it should blow the wrong way you would go sailing far, far away."

"Oh, of course, the wind has to blow the right way or my trick will not work," admitted Mr. Longears. "But, anyhow, I'm going to try and I invite you to come and see me do it."

"I shall be very happy to," promised Mr. Wibblewobble. "But I can't come right away. I have to look for the Bear's shadow."

"Oh, that's right. This is Candlemas Day," said the bunny. "I must also look for the Bear's shadow. My wife and Nurse Jane will want to know whether we are to have four or six weeks more of winter. I'll come with you. I know where Mr. Stubtail lives. He's a jolly old bear and he'll tell us whether or not he is going to see his shadow."

Leaving his flying sled partly finished, Uncle Wiggily went with the duck to the den of Mr. Stubtail, the jolly Bear. The sun was shining and the two friends thought perhaps the Bear might not come out, see his shadow and hurry back into his den for six more long weeks of winter.

But there he was, right out in the glowing sun, looking at his shadow. But he wasn't at all afraid of it.

"Why should my shadow scare me?" growled Mr. Stubtail. "It's really part of me."

"Then you aren't going back into your den and stay for six weeks, are you, Stubby?" asked Uncle Wiggily.

"No, indeed," was the answer.

"Then if we are going to have only four weeks more of ice and snow and cold weather, let's hurry back and finish my flying sled, Mr. Wibblewobble," suggested the rabbit.

"A good idea!" quacked the duck. "And will you give me a ride?"

Uncle Wiggily promised that he would and Mr. Wibblewobble said he would help the bunny finish making the sled. So they set to work and soon the flying sled was ready.

"Now we'll go out on the hill and try it," said Mr. Longears.

And what happened next I'll tell you to-morrow night when the story will be Uncle Wiggily's strange trip. And I hope you can stop the front steps from running around in the back yard to play tag with the clothes posts.

Now! Ease Sore Throat Instantly!

1 Crush and dissolve 3 Aspirin Tablets in half a glass of water.

2 GARGLE thoroughly — throw your head way back, allowing a little to trickle down your throat.

3 Repeat gargle and do not rinse mouth, allow gargle to remain on membranes of the throat for prolonged effect.

Remember: Only Medicine Helps Sore Throat

Modern medical science now throws an entirely new light on sore throat. A way that eases the pain, rawness and irritation in as little as two or three minutes!

It requires medicine—like ASPIRIN—to do these things! That is why throat specialists throughout the world are prescribing this ASPIRIN gargle in place of old-time ways.

Be careful, however, that you get Aspirin Tablets for this purpose.

Aspirin is the trademark of The Bayer Company, Limited, and the name Bayer in the form of a cross is on each tablet. They dissolve completely enough to gargle without leaving irritating particles.

DUTCH COMPLETE GREAT SEAWALL

Canadian Press

Amsterdam, Holland, Feb. 2.—Another achievement of the Dutch, who "walk on the bottom of the sea," is the recent completion of the greatest seawall of all times. As well as serving to keep back the waters this dyke will provide a magnificent twenty-six-mile motor highway.

The dyke separates the North Sea from the Zuider Zee and connecting the northern province of Holland with Friesland, will be a new sight to travelers. It is as modern as to-day. No longer is it a jumbled affair of rock and concrete and soil, for the sole purpose of battling the sea. Bus transportation has already been inaugurated along its smooth top. The part not devoted to roads is used for agricultural purposes, offered at modest rental by the government.

The dam is only part of Holland's tremendous task. The government is undertaking to enlarge by 7 per cent the area of Holland and add a cultivated area (to provide a livelihood for 300,000 people) of 10 per cent. It will take about twenty more years, and by that time 1,000,000,000 guilders (approximately $400,000,000 in gold) will be expended.

SAFETY BOOK IS OUT TO-DAY

Traffic Pamphlet Being Distributed Throughout City to Prevent Accidents

The new traffic safety book, with which Chief Heatley hopes to reduce traffic accidents to a minimum, was available to-day and several hundred of them are being distributed.

The chief has arranged to have a number of the books placed in convenient racks at the police station where persons concerned in accidents will be able to avail themselves of the books. The pamphlet contains a number of pages dealing with traffic regulations, explaining all facts which motorists should know.

In the centre of the book a double page is devoted to illustrations of correct hand signals, while there are also a large number of "Don'ts" for both motorists and school children. It also contains advice for householders and how to prevent thefts.

Arrangements have been made with the superintendent of the Citizens' Recreation Room to have some of the men distribute the books around the city during the next few days.

Toronto, Feb. 2 (Canadian Press).—Dr. George Vernon Harcourt, fifty-four, Conservative member of the Ontario Legislature, was dead to-day from a heart attack. He was a member for Parry Sound since 1923. He is the sixth member of the Legislature to die since last spring.

OFFICE CHANGES ARE COMPLETED

Departmental Branches Consolidated in Location at Parliament Buildings

Carpenters and janitors at the Parliament Buildings were completing a series of office changes designed to consolidate several departmental branches for the sake of efficiency and speeding up of services.

Ten or twelve sections of the buildings are affected by the changes which have been going on for the last few weeks.

Major alterations include the shifting of the architects into the east wing, moving of the inspector of mines office into the west wing from the old printing bureau structure, absorption of two additional offices in the child welfare department and installation of the traveling auditors in the old printing building.

Adam Bell, Deputy Minister of Mines, has taken up his office on the third floor in the main building beside the minister's room.

The buildings have presented a general "moving day" atmosphere while the alterations were taking place.

The Oak Bay Council yesterday evening referred the matter of the annual grant to the Central Exchange to its estimates committee. Hew Paterson, Oak Bay representative, reported on the exchange work last year, pointing out its value in prevention of overlapping in the giving of relief. Mr. Paterson was thanked and reappointed the municipal representative.

WORKS PLAN SUGGESTED

Reeve Mayhew Informs Oak Bay Council of Scheme For Permanent Improvements

Intimation of a definite works programme, to be carried on this year under the relief schedule, was given at a meeting of the Oak Bay Council yesterday evening when a suggestion of Reeve Robert Mayhew was adopted to have the municipal engineer prepare a statement of estimates for repairing some of the roads in the municipality which are in a bad state of repair.

The suggestion arose following complaints received at the meeting seeking improvements on McNeil, Cookman and Armstrong Streets. Complaints of flood conditions on these streets were made and the council ordered installation of surface drains, which might possibly be followed with some sort of permanent work if the suggestion is feasible and is adopted.

According to the reeve, the council might undertake this work, using solely relief labor. The fallacy of the present road policy was pointed out by the engineer and members of the council agreed the present methods of merely filling in potholes on the roads was by no means permanent.

It was also suggested that some of the work might be undertaken as a local improvement and this also will be considered. The plan as yet is purely tentative and will only proceed if the council sees its way clear to carry it out at a minimum cost to the municipality.

Members of the council were agreed that it would be a beneficial policy if it could be undertaken.

MUST REFORM SOCIAL IDEAS

Prof. G. F. Drummond Says Present Ideas of Liberty Must Give Place to Science

"We are able to apply science to small units, the machine, the factory, even the industry; perhaps in the future we shall be able to apply it to our whole economic system," said Prof. G. F. Drummond, M.A., speaking on "Economic Dictatorship," before the University Extension Society at Victoria College yesterday evening.

"An engineer uses his knowledge to do his work as efficiently and safely as possible. He considers it the function of the machine to do the work properly. As social engineers we are hopeless. We build five factories, sink five mines, drill five oil wells, where one would be sufficient. In doing so we cause the evils of unemployment and undertime."

MUST CHANGE IDEAS

"Our ideas of democracy and liberty are not adequate. They must go overboard; they are out of date. We must make new standards to fit the machine age."

Tracing the history of economic dictatorship, Prof. Drummond said that the slave-owner had been followed by the land-owner—the feudal lord—who had given place to the factory owner, who again had been superseded by the capital owner.

Political freedom, on which much of present society was based, was the result of the struggle of the ancestors of the nations, as typified by the Reformation. This new freedom had resulted in nationalism, absolutism, or as it was known in the history books, the divine right of kings. This in turn had been broken up, and had given place to the modern conception of political democracy.

STATE DICTATORSHIP

The modern idea of liberty was a reaction against all restraints, theoretical or practical, and had led to the making of tariffs, preferences and subsidies for the advantage of the state. This state economic dictatorship had been turned to war purposes and imperialism.

The American revolution was typical of the reaction against state dictatorship. "The greatest happiness of the greatest number" was its principle. The change in opinion took place at the exact time of arrival of the machine age. The modern world had failed to make the two work together.

In many cases, the speaker said, there had been conflict between the different liberties. He quoted the right of the producer through monopolies to exploit the consumer, and the right of the consumer to fight against the exploitation.

FAULTS IN SYSTEM

The modern political system, with its two houses, the possibility of lobbying, the interference of the interests of the constituency with the interests of the state and the absence of experts, was the best way of not getting things done, he said. The system was out of date, not fulfilling its function of transmitting the real wishes of the people into definite control.

Different countries had tried different ways of solving the problem; Britain had appointed a national government, and economic councils and committees to bring expert advice to the governing body. The United States had given unprecedented powers into the hands of the President. Germany and Italy had come under the control of dictators. Germany had also tried the formation of an advisory council representing the owners and the workers, but had found that this was only a second parliament. All had met with varying degrees of unsuccess.

"In the machine world," Prof. Drummond concluded, "we must adapt our ideas of democracy and freedom to the times. The application of the old reactions against restraint to the present conditions has the same results that it would have in the case of a motorist and a stop sign."

METCHOSIN

A bridge drive, under the auspices of the Metchosin Tennis Club, will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Milne this evening.

The Metchosin and District Community Club will hold its annual meeting in the Community Hall to-morrow night, with dancing afterwards.

Miss Janet Gibson, who has been a guest of her uncle, Mr. W. Gibson, Kangaroo Road, has returned to her home in North Vancouver.

Only the Ford gives you a V·8 ENGINE

unless you pay $4000 or more

THE finest motor cars in Canada use V-type engines. You cannot buy any of these—except the Ford V-8—for less than $4000. That's something to think about when you buy a motor car. Only in the Ford V-8 do you get fine car performance at a low price.

It takes eight cylinders to give you eight-cylinder performance. If it's less than an eight in cylinders, it's less than an eight in speed, power, smoothness and motoring enjoyment.

This isn't a matter of words or claims, but a definite, demonstrable fact. It is something you see by watching any New Ford V-8, and by driving it yourself. No other low-price car—and few cars at any price—can out-perform it in traffic, on hills and the open road.

This 1934 Ford V-8 leads also in economy. The new dual carburetor gives exceptional gasoline mileage at all speeds. New waterline thermostats and thermostatic intake manifold heat control increase the efficiency of the engine by enabling it to warm up quickly and maintain the correct operating temperature. And don't forget that you get extra inches of room in the Ford because of the compact design of the V-8 engine. It takes up less space in the hood and thereby permits more space to be used for the body. You can't beat this 1934 Ford V-8 for comfort.

MUSICAL SCOTS AGAIN DELIGHT

Company Which Made Hit Before, Returns to Play "Tam o' Shanter"

The Scottish Musical Comedy Company, which made itself so popular during its week's stay at the Empire Theatre a month ago, returned to Victoria yesterday evening for another three days' run.

For the current engagement the company is presenting "Tam o' Shanter," based on the lines of Robert Burns. It is an evening of entertainment set in the Kilmarnock Inn. There are gathered some of the immortal characters of Burns, headed by Tam o' Shanter himself, and including Margaret Anderson, Mary Morrison, Nancy Stair, Andrew Aiken, Robert Burns and Geordie Tamson. They play and sing, are grave and gay.

The members of the company are all recognized singers of the historic Scottish songs and accomplished in their ability to recite the poetry of Robert Burns as only Scottish artists from the old home town could be expected to recite it. All those who established themselves in the hearts of the audiences during their former visit are back, including William T. Wilson, Watt Dixon, Edyth McGregor, Mary McMahon, Randolph Salmons, McAllister Wallace, and the pretty little Ann Forsyth, who does the Scottish steps so daintily. Florence Reed is again in the orchestra pit to provide the musical accompaniment.

There is no doubt that with such talent bringing here the atmosphere, the art, the humor and the melody of the auld sod, local Scots are in for another enjoyable week-end, along with non-Scots who like the same things. The company will play "Tam o' Shanter" this evening and Saturday matinee and evening.

STAGE ATTRACTION AT CAPITOL TO-MORROW

Fanchon and Marco will present Blackstone, the magician, and his company at the Capitol Theatre for three days, commencing to-morrow.

Magician Will Show To-morrow

Blackstone, a clever magician, who has taken the United States by storm, will be the feature attraction at the Capitol Theatre for three days, commencing to-morrow. Blackstone will be accompanied by a large cast of supporters.

The thousands of theatre-goers who for years have been thrilled at the spectacle of seeing a woman in a box cut in two by a crosscut saw (although they knew that the "victim" actually was unharmed) may now see a new version of the same illusion that is guaranteed to make them shudder.

Blackstone, said to be "the greatest magician the world has ever known," has perfected even a more mystifying stage stunt. After more than five years of work on the idea, he has evolved a similar illusion that has even the learned men of science mystified. In this "thriller" a pretty young woman is placed on a plank just wide enough to accommodate her body. The audience can see the backdrop, beneath the board, above it and all around it. There is no box and, apparently, no place for the girl's body to bend to get away from the circular saw which is part of the stage device.

The screen attraction will be a fast-moving action story of the kidnaping racket, "Miss Fane's Baby is Stolen."

The Abbottiers, willowy, long-limbed graduates of Chicago's famous Merriel Abbott School of the Dance, will be seen in Eddie Cantor's new carnival of fun, "Roman Scandals," coming Monday to the Dominion Theatre.

The concert dance recitals through the middle west of the Abbott quartette finally won them so much fame that George White brought them to New York three years ago. Since then, they have continued their work on the concert stage, interrupted by an engagement with Joe Cook in "Fine and Dandy." Last year they were members of Eddie Cantor's troupe that barnstormed the country.

COLUMBIA THEATRE

Wheeler Oakman, well-known "heavy" of the screen, as popular a villain as ever tried to undo a hero, is seen as the menace in Tim McCoy's latest action-thriller, "Hold the Press," which is at the Columbia Theatre to-day.

Oakman is one of the real old reliables of the screen, as he has been appearing constantly before movie audiences since 1918. Before that he was on the stage.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE

Myrna Loy's first promising motion picture role was with Warner Baxter in "Renegade," many years ago. Now, after a cycle of many, many film successes, during which she steadily ascended the heights of motion picture fame, Miss Loy and Baxter are to be seen together once more—this time in Arthur Somers Roche's "Penthouse," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Cosmopolitan production at the Playhouse Theatre.

ROMANO THEATRE

The management of Romano Theatre to-day announced a special children's matinee will be held on Saturday from noon until 2 o'clock.

Like a panorama of life is "The Secret of Madame Blanche," which is at the Romano Theatre, for the latest drama from the successful Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios ranges over a period of thirty years, all crowded with graphic events shaping and coloring the varied career of its adventurous heroine.

DOMINION THEATRE

newest starring vehicle produced by Jefferson Pictures Corporation for RKO-Radio is being shown at the Dominion Theatre.

"Goodbye Love" deals with Charlie's ludicrous experiences when he becomes the willing prey of a beautiful gold digger. How Ruggles attempts to masquerade under the fancy cognomen even when he meets the girl again in his master's apartment while buttling, is said to provide laughs galore.

Where To Go To-night
As Advertised

Capitol—Ann Harding in "Gallant Lady."

Columbia—Tim McCoy in "Hold the Press."

Dominion — Charlie Ruggles in "Goodbye Love."

Playhouse — "Penthouse," with Myrna Loy.

Empire—Scottish Musical Comedy Company.

Romano — "Secrets of Madame Blanche," with Irene Dunne.

Crystal Garden—Swimming.

PRINCE'S FILM WINS ACCLAIM

Picture to Be Shown at the Capitol Next Week Warmly Praised at Preview

Highest praise for the spirit of the picture and the artistry shown in it was voiced by representatives of the Victoria School Board, the Saanich School Board and local chapters of the I.O.D.E., following an advance showing of the film depicting the life of H.R.H. the Prince of Wales at the Capitol Theatre to-day.

The picture will go on general view at that theatre next Wednesday for a three-day run, and all proceeds collected from it will be devoted to the cause of social services of Victoria's unemployed.

Reporting on the advance showing to-day, Ivan Ackery, manager of the theatre, spoke of the high regard in which the picture was held by George Dean, representing the Victoria School Board, Trustee William Tomes, Saanich, and Mrs. P. F. Beckett of the I.O.D.E.

UNEMPLOYED TO BENEFIT

The Prince of Wales made the film on an understanding with the Gaumont Studios that returns from it should be devoted to the needs of the jobless. This clause will be respected in the local showing.

The picture itself deals with the life of the Prince in all parts of the British Empire. It carries shots of his activities throughout Canada, coming west into British Columbia.

In conection with the film a school essay competition will be conducted, in which prizes will be awarded to the student writing the best treatise on the life of His Highness as revealed in the picture.

During the showing twenty local stores will join in an exhibition of empire products in the form of a display in the foyer of the theatre.

Admission prices will be the same as usual.

VENERABLE FIR MUST BE FELLED

Ancient Tree To Go for Douglas Street Improvement

The classic request, "Woodman spare that tree" will have to pass unheeded if Victoria is to enjoy the advantages of an improved Douglas Street in the Beacon Hill Park section of that roadway.

Residents of the district near the Beacon Street intersection have protested against the removal of a venerable, towering Douglas fir which stands on what will be the middle of the road when Douglas Street is put through on its new course.

A move to have the city officials protect the fir by having an island built around it has been negatived by the statement of authorities that if roots were cut twenty feet from the tree, it would die more rapidly and become a menace apart from being a danger to car drivers if it were left standing in the middle of the road.

So, although the city is reluctant to demolish it, and in spite of the protests of those who adhere to the spirit of Donald Novis's "Trees," the fir must fall.

PRICE CONTROL VIEWS SOUGHT

Attorney-General Asked to Explain B.C. Government's Powers

Views of the Provincial Government on mass-buying, price competition and alleged unfair trade practices were sought this afternoon by G. R. Matthews, provincial secretary of the Dominion Retail Merchants' Assoication.

Hon. G. McG. Sloan, Attorney-General, was asked by Mr. Matthews to address the Vancouver Retail Merchants' Association on the subject to outline how far the Provincial Government could go in stamping out such practices.

The aim of the association, it was stated, is to help small retailers, possibly by a system of "fair price control," which will enable them to compete on an equitable basis with the larger operators.

EVANS APPEAL BEGINS HERE

Political Prisoner Case Under Section 98 Draws Crowd of Sympathizers

The first political prisoner in years was brought before the five justices of the Court of Appeal here to-day when the hearing was begun on the appeal of Arthur H. Evans, who was sentenced under section 98 to one year by Mr. Justice W. A. Macdonald at Vernon on the charge that he "did unlawfully teach, advocate, advise and defend the use without lawful authority of force as a means of accomplishing a governmental change in Canada."

The charge arose out of speeches Evans mate at Princeton, B.C., in connection with a coal mine strike. It was brought under section 98 of the Criminal Code.

Evans was brought into court under a police escort. The court was filled with a crowd of men, women and girls wearing lapel buttons upon which were the words "Repeal Section 98—Evans Defence Fund." When the court adjourned for lunch the crowd of sympathizers flocked around him to shake his hands.

Gordon Grant of Vancouver opened the case for Evans as soon as the justices had taken their seats on the bench. W. H. Bullock-Webster of Victoria, who conducted the prosecution at Vernon for the Attorney-General, is again appearing in the same capacity in this hearing.

Mr. Grant read to the court from the police evidence at the trial to the effect that Evans had at a meeting in Princeton on November 17, said he was there "to organize the miners for a strike and the unemployed to demonstrate against conditions and work for more relief"; also, that he "was not a member of the Communist Party," but that he was of the opinion no other party was of any use to the workers, and that "the change could not be brought about by the ballot box, but only by force and a united front on the part of the workers."

Police quotations from other speeches were read to show that on November 18, 1932, Evans had said he "did not advocate the destruction of property as the workers would sooner take the property over intact and have it for their own use"; also that he called the Royal Canadian Mounted Police "the dirty and yellow-livered skunks for shooting the three workers at Estevan"; that he spoke of the government's relief camps as "the lousy slave camps"; that he said "the streets of the capitalist cities of the world are smeared with the blood of the workers" and that "we have got to have Communism, we are going to have it here, and we have got to get more relief and we must fight for it."

It was also read to court that in referring to the National Anthem, Evans had said: "Instead of teaching the children to sing 'God Save the King' we should teach them to sing 'God Save Our Class'." It was also given in evidence against him that he had remarked, "God save our class and to hell with the King."

QUESTION TO CONSIDER

Mr. Justice M. A. Macdonald declared the whole question was whether Evans had urged the use of force.

Mr. Grant argued that the evidence read to court was inadmissible as it bore no relation to the charge of "teaching or advocating the use of force as a means of effecting the change in government."

"All this evidence was calculated merely to prejudice the defendant in the eyes of the jury and, as juries are not judges, they do let their feelings influence them," Mr. Grant continued.

"It was the duty of the Crown to link up the personal abuse of the King with advocacy of force, otherwise the remarks about the King should not have been introduced.

"The jury was also improperly influenced when the trial judge told them that 'this act was enacted to stop the teaching of Communism in Canada'."

Mr. Justice Martin asked whether any objection was taken to this statement at the time and Mr. Grant replied there had not been.

Mr. Grant declared that the statements alleged against Evans by the prosecution did not advocate the use of force for purposes declared illegal by Section 98, but were merely a statement of opinion.

Mr. Justice McQuarrie—Did he try to get these Princeton people to take over the government of the country?

Mr. Grant—I submit these words could be spoken by anybody and unless he coupled them with words inciting people to go ahead and use force they do not come within the Section 98. These sentences might have been repeated by the mildest of college professors.

M. Justice McQuarrie—There was talk of Communism and about things which he was not called upon to talk of in his capacity as miners' organizer.

SEDITIOUS LIBEL

M. Grant declared the charge might have been one of seditious libel, but the Crown did not state it that way.

He went on to argue that the statement about "taking over the blinking state and running it for ourselves" was not inciting to force.

In reply to Chief Justice J. A. Macdonald, Mr. Grant said that the term "militant" applied to the fight the workers were urged to undertake for their rights, might have meant a "political" fight.

"It does not mean going out and using the sword, but an aggressive campaign," Mr. Grant continued.

Mr. Grant explained that the Communist Party was outlawed because it advocated the use of force to bring about communism. But Evans was not a member of the Communist Party, although he believed in communism the difference being he believed in bringing it about without force.

Mr. Grant also argued that the remarks quoted by the police against Evans were incidental remarks and were quoted out of their context and general association. He also said the judge acted improperly in suggesting to the jury a sinister motive on the part of Evans in denying membership in the Communist Party of Canada. He declared the statement attributed to Evans that he had said the "hungry people were only separated from plenty by plate-glass windows," was not inciting, but could have been stated factually by anybody.

The hearing is continuing this afternoon.

RECEIVER FOR MOVIE FIRM

Mr. Justice Robertson Issues Order in Supreme Court To-day

P. J. Sinnott, counsel for Michael Heppell and Barrett Webb, who were engaged in connection with the production of "The Crimson Paradise" film, to-day was granted an order for the appointment of an interim receiver for the Commonwealth Productions Limited.

The order was granted by Mr. Justice H. B. Robertson after a hearing.

During the hearing the affidavit of Harold Drummond-Hay was presented to the effect that a petition in bankruptcy has been filed against the company and this petition will come before the court on February 9.

Mr. Heppell and Mr. Webb, the court was informed, hold a judgment for $700 against the Commonwealth. This judgment was given in the County Court on January 31. The court was also informed that George C. Cherer under a garnishee order of January 31, had attached all the money in the bank to the credit of the Commonwealth, the total sum being found to be $27.

"The Commonwealth Productions have practically no assets except two motion pictures known as 'The Crimson Paradise' and 'The Black Robe,' the former being a completed picture of doubtful value and the latter being uncompleted and which I believe to be the only valuable asset belonging to the company," Mr. Drummond-Hay continued. "'The Black Robe' is at present in Vancouver and there is serious danger of the negative being taken out of the jurisdiction of the court. Therefore, an interim receiving order should be made to protect the creditors against a possible loss of this valuable asset."

PRICE CUTTING DRAWS FIRE

Resolution of Criticism Passed By Victoria Retail Merchants at Meeting To-day

Sixty merchants representing different branches of the retail trade in Victoria claimed that price-cutting and unfair competition was threatening their businesses, during the course of a meeting of the retail merchants' group of Victoria held at the Chamber of Commerce this morning.

The resolution, read by Harold M. Diggon and seconded by L. Batchelor, was passed as follows:

"Whereas, public interest has been aroused by recent press reports dealing with statements made by Hon. H. H. Stevens in his recent address to the Convention of National Retail Shoe Dealers, and

"Whereas, the statements made by the Minister of Trade and Commerce indicate that fair competition is being crushed by the unethical practices of certain retail establishments and corporations in the mass purchasing of merchandise, and

"Whereas, the cut-throat competition which follows in the retail distribution of merchandise so purchased is not only detrimental to those employed in the manufacturing industry but is a very important factor in forcing down the value of all farm products, thereby reducing the purchasing power of the consumer, and

"Whereas, the ultimate success of our country depends on a recognition of the rights of our citizens to a fair remuneration for labor, a reasonable return on investment, and fair competition in business;

"Therefore be it resolved, that this gathering of Victoria Retail Merchants go on record as heartily endorsing the action of the Hon. R. B. Bennett, Prime Minister, in appointing an investigation committee, and

"Be it further resolved, that in the interest of the consumer and all independent retailers, immediate steps be taken by the federal government to establish a Department of Domestic Distribution as a branch of the Department of Trade and Commerce, and it is further resolved in the opinion of this meeting that only by strict supervision and regulation will it be posible to eliminate the unfair competition now existing and which has been so ably brought to the attention of the public by the Hon. Minister of Trade and Commerce in his recent address to the National Retail Shoe Dealers' Association."

SEEKS CO-OPERATION

George R. Matthews, provincial secretary of the Retail Merchants of Canada, with headquarters at Vancouver stated that Mr. Stevens had asked for the co-operation of the retailers in combating mass buying.

"This is a challenge from Ottawa. We must work together and not individually, as our problems are common with each other," said the speaker.

During his visit Mr. Matthews will call on Hon. Gordon Sloan, Attorney-General, and ask him to address the Vancouver branch and explain what the government can do in aiding the small retailer, Mr. Matthews stated. He told of the co-operation existing between the different branches of the Retail Merchants of Canada. A conference between the four western provinces is being arranged as well as a Dominion meeting to go into the matters advanced by the Minister of Trade and Commerce.

SUPPORT URGED

Lantry Bell, chairman of the radio section of the Vancouver branch, urged the support of the policy advanced by Mr. Stevens. He related a code being used in the music business in Vancouver at the present time, and concluded by stating that it was working very satisfactory. It permitted reasonable profits and eliminated the practice of cut-throat prices and unethical practices. Inquiries about the code have been received from different parts of Canada, Mr. Bell stated.

J. E. Wilson, chairman, stated that the meeting was originally scheduled for the retail merchants group of the Chamber of Commerce, but owing to the interesting topic under discussion, it had been thrown open to all merchants in the city. In a brief address he attacked chiselling and price-cutting and said workers had to be chisled down to such wages that they were unable to live as men should. He stressed the fact that Mr. Stevens needed the retailers from Coast to Coast behind him before he could obtain his objective.

"The small merchant contributes the lion's share to the city's purse, and if the small stores fail, cities border on bankruptcy," said Mr Wilson.

MAY FORM BRANCH

Preliminary steps towards the formation of a Victoria Branch of the Retail Merchants of Canada was taken at this meeting. Mr. Wilson was named chairman to appoint a committee which would add to its numbers and start organization work immediately.

A petition drawn up by the Retail Merchants Group of the Junior Chamber of Commerce was read at the meeting, and later passed around for signature. The resolution reads:

"The undersigned retail merchants of Victoria, B.C., commend and endorse your courageous stand in the interests of fair business. The suppression of unfair and unethical methods of merchandising practiced by certain large business interests is a matter primarily for governmental initiative, and must be undertaken at once if the smaller merchant is to continue in business. Continuance of the abuses you specify, and many others that could be mentioned, must inevitably result in general municipal insolvency and the crushing of individual enterprise."

TWO CHARGED WITH ASSAULT

F. M. Smith and L. R. Cannon Remanded For Judgment After Giving Evidence

Further evidence in the case of Frederick Michael Smith and Leslie R. Cannon, charged with assaulting a police officer, was heard in City Police Court this morning when both accused took the stand and recounted the events of the night before New Year's Eve when it was alleged they used insulting language to Constable Thomas Banister and resisted arrest.

A charge of intoxication in a public place is also laid against Smith. The case was remanded for judgment until Tuesday for the magistrate to review the police testimony, first heard a month ago.

Constable Banister testified he passed the two accused on the street on the night of December 30, about 11 o'clock and Smith insulted him. He was with his wife at the time and warned the accused they had "better straighten up and get along." They continued to insult him, the constable testified, whereupon he took them to a taxi stand to take them to the station. He testified they had struck him while he was putting them into the taxi.

Stuart Henderson questioned the authority of a police constable to make an arrest when dressed in plain clothes not on duty. A lengthy argument ensued on this point involving the magistrate, Mr. Henderson and C. L. Harrison, city prosecutor. Mr. Harrison and the magistrate contended the officer was a police officer at all times whether in plain clothes or uniform.

"It is a shame two one-armed youths should be brought to court for assault," commented Mr. Henderson.

The story given by both accused while on the stand was that on the evening in question they had only had three drinks and were walking along Douglas Street when they passed Constable Banister and his wife.

"I said to Cannon 'There goes red-headed Banister'," Smith testified. Banister said: "You two punks better move along or I'll run you in," continued the witness.

Cannon told the constable that he, as a city ratepayer, was not going to stand being spoken to in that manner, whereupon the officer grabbed them by the shoulders and took them to the taxi stand, witness said.

Smith did not deny having assaulted the constable, stating that he may have struck him or kicked him during the slight scuffle that occurred when they argued about getting into the taxi because, witness said, Banister refused to tell them the charge against them and why they were being arrested.

R. A. Diespecker testified that he saw part of the incident while standing near the corner of Douglas and View Streets. He described the two accused as being "not sober" but would not state they were "drunk." He had heard the first remark made by Smith as they passed, but did not hear Smith swear as the constable testified he did. The remainder of the argument on the corner had been in quieter tones and he did not hear it.

British Boxing Fans Enthusiastic Over Len Harvey

Price Tag on Ottawa Hockey Franchise Jumps $50,000

Speed Handicap Sunday Opens Stake Period at Caliente

BRITISH boxing fans are happy. They have found a fighter who looks like he might go places. The man is Len Harvey, a Cornishman, born at Callington, and only a few miles away, at Helston, there was born that redoubtable Cornishman, the sandy-haired Bob Fitzsimmons. British sports writers are saying that Len is like Bob. Len, at 168 pounds, recently won the British heavyweight title. Fitz also always gave weight to his opponents.

The new British heavyweight champion, recent conqueror of Jack Peterson for the title, differs from his predecessors who started in life as policemen, draymen, clerks, sailors or soldiers. He never has done anything else in his life but fight and he hasn't a cauliflower ear, a flattened nose or a broken tooth. Harvey quit school at thirteen to start fighting professionally, and at his present age of twenty-five has had more than 300 purse fights.

The year 1929 was one of his biggest, and it was then the British fans began to take him seriously. He knocked out Alexander Ireland, British middleweight champion, in the seventh round. He had two fights with Jack Hood, beating him in one and drawing in the other. In 1931 he visited the United States, fighting Vince Dundee at Madison Square Garden in January and February and being beaten on points both times in twelve-round bouts. In March he dropped a hard bout to Ben Jeby. Harvey went to France last October to face Carmelo Candel, supposed to be second to Marcel Thil. Harvey won by a knockout in the fifth round. When he fought Peterson and beat him on points, the latter had the advantage of height, reach and weight. But Harvey had the superior ring craft, due to his long experience, and wore his man out by heavy punches during the infighting.

Potential buyers of the Ottawa Senators' franchise in the National Hockey League will find the price tag raised at least $50,000 by April, and the owners reluctant at selling, except at their own price. The complete reversal of affairs comes as a result of the greatest hockey strike in years. Hockey "nuggets" have been found to carry the Senators through the present campaign and possibly several others. When Owner Thomas Ahearn and Manager Buck Boucher raided the fruitful ivory field of Niagara Falls, Ont., and pried loose Scotty Bowman, Max Kaminsky and Jerry Shannon, little did they dream the amateurs would draw open bidding from rival clubs in mid-session. Walter Kalbfleisch, the latest addition, who teamed with Bowman, Kaminsky and Shannon on the Ontario senior champions of 1932-33, is regarded as the pick of the lot.

Bowman and Kaminsky are to-day valued at $15,000 each, and may be worth more before another season is inaugurated. Shannon should sell for somewhere around $10,000, and Kalbfleisch, if he is as good as many insist, will draw even a bigger price. In addition the Senators are now holding their own in the matter of drawing crowds. Although the club is at the bottom of the Canadian section the fans of the Capital are still turning out in large numbers.

Sunday will mark the opening of the stake period at the Agua Caliente race-track with the annual running of the speed handicap. This is the oldest feature of racing in Baja, California, and had its inception before the Cofroth handicap. It has been renewed regularly from year to year. The entry includes some of the best sprinters in training at the course. Prominent names for Sunday's edition of the event include Bahamas, the crack California flyer; Fickle Chance, which won a preliminary for the race from able opponents; Kleva, the classy three-year-old filly from New York and Texas; Gaillardia, a greatly improved plater; Satin Spar, Willard Mack's horse; Morshion, former New York horse owned by the Spreckles Stable, and others. The speed handicap opens up the way for longer stakes at the Caliente track. Annually horses prepare for the speed and then are lengthened out for the Caliente Derby, Phar Lap handicap and Caliente handicap.

Pooley Continues Giant-killing To Eliminate Simmons

Kelowna Star Turns Back Willows Club Player 15-6, 17-15; Doubles Are Good

Dick Birch Sees Action To-night

Another large crowd witnessed the second day's play of the Vancouver Island badminton championships yesterday at the Armories. The tourney is being staged by the Victoria Garrison Badminton Club, and will continue to-day with all finals billed to-morrow evening. Over thirty-five matches were run off yesterday with some close and exciting competition.

Out-of-town players got into action to-day and will be busy until late this evening. Good progress was made in the handicap events so as to clear the decks for the last two days. The junior events also opened to-day.

Tony Pooley, Summerland, continued to eliminate leading Victoria men when he defeated Teddy Simmons, Willows Club, in straight sets after a very good match. The scores were 15-6, 17-5. Harry Bleasdale, Victoria Club finalist, was extended to three sets by Francis of the Brentwood Club, 8-15, 15-10, 15-12. The Californians secured an even break. Bob Ford, Pasadena, defeated Pat Hope, Brentwood, 15-1, 15-11, while Ian Phillips, Willows, put out G. F. Kronkite, also of Pasadena, 15-4, 15-12. Only two matches were played in the women's singles. Florence Oates showed her best form of the year to decisively win from Marjorie Hughes, Willows, 11-3, 11-0, and Margery Benson defeated Pamela Charlewood in the other match.

MEN'S DOUBLES GOOD

All three men's doubles matches were good. Ralph Bagley and Pat Colclough, Willows, eliminated the California team of Ford and Kronkite, in three sets, 15-8, 10-15, 15-1. Pooley and Corfield were extended by the Victoria Club champions, Des and Harry Bleasdale, whom they defeated 18-13, 15-13. Peers and Hocking, second seeded team, eliminated George Phillips and Cam Logan in straight sets, 18-14, 15-4, after a good match. Miss Harris and Peggy MacDonald, Willows, won in straight sets from the Thwaites sisters, Parksville, 15-9, 15-12.

In the open mixed doubles, the Victoria Club champions, Mrs. D. Heywood and Des Bleasdale, sprung a real surprise by their fine victory over Dorothy Morley and Harry Webb, Willows, 12-15, 15-10, 15-10. The Victoria Club players are making an excellent showing in the tournament. Two other strong teams, Florence Oates and George Phillips, and Jean Campbell and Teddy Simmons, won their matches in this event in straight sets.

"WIFFY" COX GOLF LEADER

Has Score of 139 For First Two Rounds of Caliente Play; Field Bunched

Agua Caliente, Mex., Feb. 2.—"Wiffy" Cox, thirty-six-year-old Brooklyn professional, added a smart 70 yesterday to a fine 69 Wednesday to lead the field in the Agua Caliente open golf championship by two strokes.

Just before nightfall the straight-shooting pro wrested the lead from Paul Runyan, White Plains, N.Y., who had held the thirty-six-hole lead since noon with rounds of 69 and 72. Willie Hunter followed a first round 71 with a second 70 to tie Runyan for second place.

Cox, Hunter and Horton Smith played in a group and they succeeded in scrambling the line-up no end. The tall Smith scored 72 and, with 71 in his first effort, went into a four-cornered tie for fourth place with 143. Bill Mehlhorn equalled the course record of 67 made Wednesday by Craig Wood, and wiped out in a large measure his unimpressive 76 in the first round. Vic Ghezzi, Rumson, N.J., shaved par by two strokes to get 69 to go with his 74. Olin Dutra, big Santa Moncia pro, who also started with 74, bounded back into the picture with a snappy 69.

Craig Wood, leader of the field Wednesday with his sensational 67, fell to an ordinary 77 yesterday and was tied at 144 with Jimmy Thompson, long-hitting Long Beach star, and Abe Espinosa, veteran Chicago pro.

Saskatoon Quakers In One-sided Win

Leoben, Austria, Feb. 2. — Saskatoon Quakers yesterday evening defeated the Leoben Hockey Club, 12 to 1, completely outclassing the Austrians and scoring almost at will.

The win brought to twelve the number of victories last year's Allan Cup finalists have won since they started their European tour. They have played fourteen games.

"CHUCK" GARDINER, PEER OF HOCKEY NET MINDERS, WAS ONCE READY TO QUIT

Star of the Chicago Black Hawks, and Shut-out King of the N.H.L., Wanted to Hang Up His Togs After a Poor Performance Early in His Amateur Career; Decided to Carry on After Teammates Had Told Him of Joke

Winnipeg, Feb. 2.—Shut-out king of the National Hockey League, Charlie Gardiner is hailed to-day as one of hockey's ablest goaltenders. The curly-haired custodian of the Chicago Black Hawks has turned them aside with persistent regularity this season to add further lustre to a record already brilliant.

But it wasn't always that way.

Sports enthusiasts here recalled a day when Gardiner announced in no uncertain tones to his teammates in a Winnipeg amateur hockey club that he was through with hockey and would never don a goalkeeper's pad again.

The story came to light at a complimentary banquet to Bill Cockburn, himself ranked as a giant among the netminders of old. Cockburn was goalie and captain of the Canadian Olympic team in 1932.

Chuck Gardiner, young and enthusiastic, wanted a chance to play goal. But he was a single day too old for juvenile hockey and Cockburn himself was junior goalie for the Tammany Tigers. Undaunted, Chuck got himself a trial with the Tigers' intermediate squad. Like all recruits, he was forthwith subjected to a characteristic "razzing" by his teammates. They told him he was no good. Clarence Hebb and Ward McVey, defencemen, added to his trials. Every so often they would exchange a prearranged signal, and let the opposing forwards sweep in on Charlie. As the score mounted, his heart sank. And the jocular jesting of his teammates rang like a death-knell in his ears.

WAS DISGUSTED

The climax came when the Tiger squad went down to a 13 to 1 defeat. "Chuck" was disgusted. Into one corner of the dressing room he tossed one skate. The other he flung wildly away. His pads he caromed over the lockers.

"I'm through," he announced. "I guess I'll never be a goalkeeper."

Then it dawned on the Tigers that their kid goalie was taking their banter seriously. They took him aside and argued with him, told him it was all a joke. For days he was adamant. But finally he relented and decided to carry on.

From then on his rise to the heights of the hockey firmament was meteoric. That was twelve years ago. To-day he stands head and shoulders above the ranks of the keen-eyed men who guard the nets for the "big time."

J.B.A.A. WILL BATTLE FIFTH

Senior Rugby Teams Clash in Important Game To-morrow Afternoon

With rival squads in tip-top shape and all primed for battle, to-morrow afternoon's rugby fixture bringing together the undefeated Fifth Brigade and the unbeaten second-half leaders, the J.B.A.A., promises to be the oval ball classic of the season. The fixture will open at 2.45 o'clock. In the other senior match the Wanderers will battle the Canadian Scottish, at Oak Bay Park A ground. Garrison Tommies and Fifth Brigade will meet in a senior B fixture at Work Point Barracks, while the two Intermediate League games will see the Canadian Scottish battling the J.B.A.A. at Oak Bay B grounds, and Victoria College opposing Fifth Brigade at High School. All matches will start at 2.45 o'clock.

Taking the field with successive victories over the Wanderers and the Canadian Scottish to their credit in the second half race, Bob McInnes's battling Bays feel confident of halting the mad dash to the championship, of Charlie Morton's undefeated Fifth. The Gunners opened the second half with a one-sided victory over the Scottish and will take the field to-morrow afternoon determined to keep their string of victories intact and their line from being crossed.

LOTS OF INTEREST

Interest on the outcome of this fixture will equal that of any cup game seen here for many a moon. With the first-half championship safely tucked away, victory in to-morrow's game will make the Gunners strong favorites to capture the second half, and with it the Barnard Cup, emblematic of the league title. On the other hand, should the Bays come through with a win they will keep their string of victories in the second half scramble intact and be favored to displace the Gunners as second-half winners.

Wanderers, hard-fighting fifteen, will be gunning for their initial victory when they meet the Scottish in the other senior game at Oak Bay. Scottish bowed before the J.B.A.A. last week, while the Wanderers met defeat at the hands of the Navy. With rival squads anxious to secure the points, the fixture should prove interesting.

Some of to-morrow's teams follow:

Fifth Brigade—Gribble, S. Gaunt, G. Scott, Fleming, Rowe, Stipe, deBlaquiere, Buller, Engleson, Hobson, Doswell, Eastham, Stewart, McInnes and Drysdale.

J.B.A.A.—Parrot, Patterson, Turgoose, Latta, Beck, Carmichael, Brown, Lemm, Peard, Schultz, George, Tobin, Petticrew, Goad and Usher.

Victoria College—Thomas, Luttrell, McLaughlin, Halkett, Cox, Ferguson, Mayhew, Andrews, Pearce, Farquhar, Saunders, Lindsey, Veitch, Best and Moloney. Reserves: Sutherland-Brown, Lowe, McCaffery and Ware. All players are asked to be at the college at 2 o'clock.

Wanderers senior A—King, Dunsmuir, Campbell, Mayhew, Croft, D. Symons, Overton, Gann, Lowe, Haines, Locke, K. Symons, Preece, Darbyshire and Moffat.

Maroons Register Lone Victory In Evening of Ties

Defeat Ottawa 3 to 1 in N.H.L.; Three Other Games Finish in Deadlocks

N.Y. Rangers In Great Recovery

Those hockey fans who urge something should be done about tie games, had strength added to their contentions to-day after points were split in three of the four National Hockey games played yesterday evening.

Montreal Maroons were the only team of the eight in action to pick up two points. They used their 3 to 1 win over Senators in Ottawa as a stepping stone to second place in the Canadian division, sharing the spot with Canadiens who had held it alone since early in the season.

The draws Rangers, Detroit and Chicago participated in left the New Yorkers and Black Hawks still tied for top position in the United States section with Red Wings a point behind.

Lester Patrick's team shared ten goals with Toronto Leafs at Madison Square Garden in a game that was brilliant even for a contest between these teams which always stage spectacular jousts.

Detroit were only able to pick a 2 to 2 tie out of their contest at home with Boston Bruins, and Black Hawks tied 3 to 3 with Canadiens in Montreal.

RANGERS IN RALLY

If they were all like yesterday evening's game New York fans would be well satisfied with ties. A sell-out crowd went wild with excitement in the third session when Rangers tied the score after Toronto had been out in front by three goals at one time.

Charlie Conacher, Happy Day and Ken Doraty sank shots behind Andy Aitkenhead in a first period that made Rangers' chances look slim, then Bun Cook made the play that enabled Cecil Dillon to get Rangers' first goal past George Hainsworth. Conacher scored again before the period ended and Earl Seibert closed a bit of the gap between the teams with a Ranger goal.

The famous Cook-Boucher-Cook line got into high gear in the third, and before it was half over Bun and Bill Cook had each scored goals to bring the score to a tie. Then Joe Primeau got loose close to the Ranger net and again the Torontonians were in the van. Bun Cook, hero of the night, stepped in a few minutes later and knotted the count again, snaring a loose puck near the net and lifting it over Hainsworth.

Young Russell Blinco, Maroon recruit from Windsor Bull Dogs, starred in the encounter at Ottawa, getting two of the Montrealers' three goals. Paul Haynes, another ex-Windsorite, grabbed the third. Maroons got two of their goals in the second period after a scoreless first session and added another in the third. Carl Voss combined with the Roche boys, Desse and Earl, for Senators' only score.

ROUGH GAME

It was a rugged tussle, with both teams using their bodies plentifully and taking fourteen penalties.

Most of the thrills were packed into the first period of the Boston-Detroit game. After Dit Clapper had beaten Wilf Cude, a minute after the game started, Wings went right after the tieing point and managed to get it and another before the period ended, both from the stick of Larrie Aurie. Red Beattie scored Boston's second and tieing goal in the middle frame.

Despite reported statements by Art Ross that Eddie Shore would not play in Detroit because of the club's attitude toward his reinstatement, the big Boston defenceman was in the game. He was applauded as he stepped on the ice and booed in old-time fashion frequently through the tussle.

Chicago had an edge on Canadiens in the first period of their Montreal game and outscored them 2 to 1, Johnny Sheppard getting both Black Hawk counters and Johnny Gagnon Canadiens'. Sylvio Mantha, who played a brilliant game all night, tied it up in the second period on a lone effort.

Only nineteen seconds of overtime had been played when Johnny Gottselig got Chicago's third goal from Tommy Cook's pass. Hawks immediately threw up a defensive screen, but Canadiens put on a long scramble in front of Charlie Gardiner. Wildor Larochelle finally slapped it past the Hawk goalie.

Lineups and summaries follow:

Toronto—Hainsworth, Clancy, Horner, Primeau, Conacher, Jackson. Subs: Blair, Cotton, Sands, Thoms, Doraty, Day and Levinsky.

Scottish Football Elevens To Resume Cup Ties To-morrow

Motherwell Will Engage Partick Thistle; Rangers Meet Third Lanark

INJURIES HURT ENGLISH TEAMS

Glasgow, Feb. 2.—Second round of the Scottish Association Football Cup will draw chief attention to-morrow, and the clubs will find the going harder than in the first round, when the draw was considerably lopsided.

In to-morrow's thirteen battles, seventeen clubs of the first division and six of the second are engaged, two non-league clubs being drawn against each other, while St. Johnstone, of the first division, gets a snap in being drawn at Vale of Leithen.

No fewer than six of the matches, however, bring first division clubs together. Motherwell, the league leader, will have no walk-over at Partick Thistle. Rangers, league champions, also have a battle on their hands with Third Lanark, and Celtic, holders of the cup, will have a stiff game at Ayr United.

The three other feature clashes bring together Aberdeen and Dundee, Hamilton and Falkirk and Queen's Park vs. Hearts.

Four of the other fixtures are between first and second division teams.

London, Feb. 2.—Cup ties, replays and mid-week games have taken heavy toll of footballers and many of the English League clubs engaged to-morrow will be unable to select their teams until near game time.

The Arsenal, now tied by Derby County for lead of the first division, have had some hard knocks, but the champion eleven is expected to defeat Everton, especially as the match will be played at Highbury. Everton have signed on George Stevenson of Glasgow Rangers, the Irish international inside-right.

Derby County meantime engage Stoke City and the County will likely keep in step with Arsenal. Stoke is only fourth from the bottom of the division.

SPURS CHANGE TEAM

Tottenham Hotspurs have to make three changes for their match at Liverpool. Howe and McCormick have badly bruised ankles and Colquhoun is suffering from a severe chill.

Chelsea, making a gallant fight for cup honors, has five players on the doubtful list. Barber has an eye in stitches, Miller and ankle injury, Craig a painful hip injury and Law and Cregg are also injured.

SEVERAL TRANSFERS

Other transfers this week send James Dougal, outside right, from Falkirk to Preston North End; Harry Brown, inside right, from Darlington to Chesterfield, and Duckworth, Bolton's right goes to Swindon Town.

Other than first division clubs have also suffered injuries. For Fulham, Keeping will be back in the line-up after missing nine matches, but Birch, right back, is out with an ankle injury.

Lincoln City is forced to make several changes both on the forward and the halfback lines; Millwall is doubtful about Yardley, its centre forward, and may replace him with Rensom. On the other hand, Brentford will have its amateur international, Burns, back in play.

In the two sections of the third division many other changes will be seen in the line-ups to-morrow.

Norwich City, leading the southern section by only one point over Queen's Park Rangers, travel to Luton Town. Queen's Park, visiting Torquay United, will use Farmer, from Notts Forest, at centre-half, in place of Goodier.

Crystal Palace is making several changes, and Southend has a number of doubtfuls on the list. Bosle, of Reading, will be displaced by Ridley, who has recovered from his broken jaw. Eutt replaces Boulter at inside left for Charlton Athletic. Clapton Orient will give Mills a try-out to-morrow, and if he is in shape they will use him in place of Taylor against Brighton, Taylor having a septic knee.

In the northern section, Chesterfield, holding a long lead, will probably put Harry Brown right in the line-up for the match with Tranmere Rovers.

JOE JACOBS BESTED BY CARNERA'S MANAGER IN DUEL OF HIGH FINANCE

Louis Soresi Wins Victory in Battle Over Respective Gates for Bouts Between Their Fighters and Paulino Uzcudun; Big Gate Fever Seems to Have Bitten the Lightweights; Canzoneri Meets Locatelli To-night

By Edward J. Neil

New York, Feb. 2.—The banking experience of Louis Soresi, newest of all Primo Carnera's managers, won the "Goliath of Genoa," a bloodless victory yestreday over Joe Jacobs, manager of Max Schmeling, in a struggle of financial statements that has the fight business dizzy.

"My Primo," announced little Soresi, who gave up a vice-president's post in a bank here to manage Carnera's fighting and bankruptcy suits," will fight Paulino Uzcudun in Buenos Aires in March or April for 1,000,000 lire. It is all arranged."

Jacobs heard, gulped, and led with his chin.

"My Max," he snorted, "will fight Paulino in Barcelona, Spain, on April 8, and not for no lire either. He gets 275,000 pesetas, which is a lot of dough and you can look it up and see. Me, now, I've misplaced my glasses at the moment or I'd tell you."

SORESI HAS EDGE

That was where Soresi's experience in banking circles sent Jacobs reeling to his corner biting his nails. One million lire turned out to be lots more than 275,000 pesetas, as many more, in fact, as $84,000 is to $40,000 of newly-devaluated 59.06 per cent gold content.

Both Carnera and Schmeling have previous engagements here before starting the race to get at Paulino first. Primo defends his heavyweight title against Tommy Loughran in Miami, February 22, and Schmeling tackles Steve Hamas in Philadelphia February 13.

In the meantime the financial fervor of the dead and gone days of Tex Rickard has bitten the lightweights as well.

Barney Ross, champion of the 135 pounders, offered Jimmy McLarnin, welterweight king, a $35,000 guarantee for a match this spring, with McLarnin countering with a demand for $50,000. Yesterday, Tony Canzoneri, who lost the lightweight title to Ross and failed to get it back in a return bout, took a deep breath and offered Ross a guarantee of $35,000 for another chance at the championship.

In the midst of al these staggering ciphers, Madison Square Garden went laconically about the task of staging a ten-round bout to-night between Canzoneri and Cleto Locatelli, European champion, whom Tony almost knocked out in a previous match.

Are Drawn Against One Another in First Round of Davis Cup Tennis Play

London, Feb. 2.—Canada to-day was drawn against the United States for the first round of play in the North American zone of Davis Cup competition.

Sir Samuel Hoare, Secretary of State for India and president of the Lawn Tennis Association which holds the international trophy, presided over the draw which was made in the Indian office quarters. Because of the absence in the United States of Ambassador Robert E. Bingham no U.S. representative was present.

The name of the United States was the first drawn and Canada was second. Mexico, the only other country playing in the North American zone, therefore was given a bye through the first round and will play the winner of the Canada-United States series.

With the preliminary rounds already out of the way—they were played last summer and fall under a new arrangement—only fifteen nations were left to fight it out during the coming spring and summer for the right to challenge England for the cup.

South America, Brazil vs. Peru.

Europe, Czechoslovakia, New Zealand and Italy, byes; Switzerland vs. India, France vs. Austria; Germany, Australia and Japan, byes.

Seattle, Feb. 2.—Vancouver Lions were back in third place in the Northwestern Professional Hockey League standings to-day, trailing Edmonton Eskimos by a single point and four back of the league leading Calgary Tigers.

Offerings Heavy and Prices Off Little In Winnipeg Wheat

Canadian Press

Winnipeg, Feb. 2.—Offerings proved too weighty for support on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange to-day and values finished with net losses of ½ to ⅜ cent.

Late buying by seaboard houses against export sales of Canadian wheat brought prices up from the low points, but offerings increased accordingl and the market failed to make much headway.

May wheat closed at 69½ with July option at 70¾ cents.

Values held at fractionally lower levels throughout. Trading was rather spasmodic and pit volume reached only small proportions.

Most of the selling appeared to come from Southern interests, with seaboard houses supplying the bulk of support. Total export sales were estimated at 400,000 bushels.

Chicago wheat showed a tendency to firm in the late stages. Liverpool, influenced by weakness in North American markets, slipped ¼ to ⅜d.

Argentine wheat shipments for the past week totaled 3,561,000 bushels, compared with 3,438,000 bushels a year ago.

Australian clearances amounted to 2,646,000 bushels in the week past, against 5,193,000 bsuhels last year.

Top grades of cash grains were at spreads ½-⅛ cents better. Coarse grains trading was dull.

Associated Press

Chicago, Feb. 2.—Wheat underwent tumbles of more than a cent a bushel to-day, largely as a result of profit-taking sales for holders and because of selling here against purchases at Winnipeg.

Wheat closed unsteady, ⅜ to ⅝ down, corn unchanged to ¼ down, oats unchanged to ⅛ off and provisions unchanged to five cents decline.

STRIKE ORE EAST OF SLAVE

Bishop Breynat Tells of Next Big Mineral Development in North

Canadian Press

Edmonton, Feb. 2.—Among the next big mineral strikes may be one east of Great Slave Lake, where prospectors have been working for some time, in the opinion of Bishop Gabriel Breynat, O.M.I., of the Mackenzie district, with headquarters at Fort Smith, who is a visitor here.

The formation of that part of the country is similar to Great Bear Lake and also to the Flin Flon region, points out this pioneer Catholic dignitary.

Speaking of the search for gold in the Nahanni district, Bishop Breynat says the federal government should see that people going into that country have adequate equipment and food supplies for at least one year.

Airplane service can be operated only under difficulties in the Nahanni region, the space for landing being greatly restricted, says the bishop.

VATICAN SAYS INCIDENT CLOSED

Canadian Press

Vatican City, Feb. 2.—Details of the shooting in the Archbishop's Palace at Munich on Sunday which resulted in the dispatch of a message of congratulations on his escape to Cardinal Michele de Faulhaber, had been revealed in The Osservatore Romano today.

The Osservatore said Cardinal de Faulhaber, Archbishop of Munich, worked in a study adjoining the salon where shots were fired, until a late hour. The police began a prompt investigation.

Referring to a verbal attack made on Cardinal de Faulhaber, The Osservatore said that all Munich papers printed an official communique of Minister Essers "polemic" and hence the Pontiff's "vehement sorrow" expressed in his congratulatory message to-day.

Prelates said the latter portion of the Pope's message was intended as a moral protest against both events. They said the incident was closed as far as the Vatican was concerned.

TIGER MAN USES ARROW

Stalking Game With Guns Neither Sporting, Nor Fun, Says Sasche Seimel

Canadian Press

New York, Feb. 2.—Sasche Seimel, the "tiger man" of the South American marshes, to-day had become another Broadway Beau Brummel.

He has stalked humans as well as cats through the crawling savannas below the equator. He kills for a living. But to-day he sauntered around between Manhattan's tall spires and marveled at civilization.

Author and lecturer on the side, Seimel kills 300-pound cats with arrows and spears. Tracking game with dogs, then shooting them with guns "is neither sporting nor fun," he said.

When he began tracking through the marshes of Brazil many years ago he used a gun and slaughtered more than eighty tigers. "But it wasn't fun, so I learned to hunt them with bow and arrow and a spear, like natives do."

Seimel was a tradesman in Buenos Aires, a contented chap in civilization, when his brother was assassinated by an unidentified planter. He set out to avenge the death — the law of the jungle—and the marshes took a hold on him that he has not been able to shake off.

For eight years he searched for the man, learning much by saying nothing. Finally he found the planter dying at a plantation far in the interior. "He begged me to kill him before his disease brought agonizing death. Killing would have been too merciful. I left him alone."

The restless urge to live in the jungle had seized Seimel by this time. Then, too, there was an unfortunate love affair. "She was a beautiful woman. I went to the jungle to forget her. But I never have."

The marshes, he said, are the greatest tiger ground in the world. In killing tigers with a spear he meets the cat's charges. "You don't hurl it—you just grip the shaft firmly and wait."

Seimel came to New York to lecture. He is going back to the marshes, probably next summer.

"It's great to see civilization once in a while," he said, "but I wouldn't like it long."

C.C.F. TO CONTEST FEDERAL SEAT

Canadian Press

Toronto, Feb. 2. — Capt. Elmore Philpott of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, returned from a trip to the Pacific Coast, said to-day there was no truth in reports the party would not have a candidate in the Federal by-election in South Oxford.

"We'll have a man there who will show them plenty," said Capt. Philpott.

FRENCH OPPOSE GERMAN ARMS

Associated Press

Paris, Feb. 2.—Determined opposition to the rearmament demands of Chancellor Hitler of Germany will be expressed by the French government as soon as Premier Edouard Daladier and his cabinet receive a vote of confidence by the Chamber of Deputies.

This opposition will be staged in a reply to the latest German memorandum.

PARIS TAXI-MEN STRIKE

Associated Press

Paris, Feb. 2.—Walking was good in Paris to-day. It had to be.

The city was practically "taxiless" as a result of a drivers' strike against a recent 12½ cent rise in the government gasoline tax.

Only a few privately-owned cabs were in operation.

New York, Feb. 2.—Stocks were somewhat non-committal to-day as the new and lighter American dollar bounded upward in foreign exchange markets and commodities failed to display much enthusiasm for the advance. Some of the metals and specialties resisted profit-taking, but the so-called leaders were a little ragged. The close was irregular. Transfers approximated 2,850,000 shares. The pound sterling dropped about six cents in terms of the United States unit and other leading European currencies were similarly heavy. Grains and other commodities offered little aid to equities, but cotton was about steady. Bonds, paying meager attention to stocks, again moved ahead vigorously.

Some metal shares, including U.S. Smelting, Dome and McIntyre, were in demand for advances of one to two points. A few specialties found new followings. Most alcohol issues sagged one to two. Merchandising issues were firm. Union Pacific lost a point and other rails were hesitant.

Utilities showed improving tendencies. Various oils also did better. Aircrafts were in supply.

Steels eased and most of the so-called leaders held to a narrow groove. Profit-taking in the first hour caused the ticker tape to lag behind floor transactions, but the pace slowed appreciably later.

Aside from strength in Dome and McIntyre, Canadian stocks continued to reflect narrow trading. Canadian Pacific and International Nickel were a trifle easier. On the curb Lake Shore mines gained a point, while Hiram Walker was a fraction improved. Dominion Government 4s advanced ⅜ of a point but other maturities were unchanged. The Canadian dollar was 7-16 cent lower at 99 cents.

Selling in some of the alcohols followed word from Washington that the department of justice had begun an investigation of complaints of an alleged liquor trust.

BOND ISSUES PUSH UPWARD

New York, Feb. 2 (Associated Press). —The bond market still had a substantial following on the buying side to-day and many secondary issues pushed into new high ground. United States governments were moderately higher.

Canadian Pacific debentures among others gained around a point.

Foreign issues were steady with Germans fractionally improved, while French and other Europeans moved narrowly.

BREMER FAMILY STILL HOPEFUL

Associated Press

St. Paul, Feb. 2.—Kidnapers maintained their silence for the seventeenth consecutive day as the Bremer family still anxiously awaited word from the gang which seized Edward G. Bremer, wealthy banker, for $200,000 ransom January 17.

Speculation persisted in some quarters as to whether he had been killed by his captors, though the family remained hopeful some communication would be received soon.

TRIUMPH IN EYE SURGERY

Canadian Press Cable

Cardiff, Wales, Feb. 2.—Henry Watson of Newcastle, twenty-nine years old and blind since he was two, looked wonderingly to-day on a world he had seen but forgotten. Behind his recovery was a triumph of modern surgery.

Watson lost his sight when disease attacked the corneas of his eyes, the transparent shell that protects the exposed surface. His case remained apparently hopeless until Dr. Tudor Thomas, noted Cardiff specialist, became interested in him. From his sightless eyes Dr. Thomas peeled the diseased corneas, replacing them with healthy corneas from the eyes of two persons whose sight had failed from other causes.

Robert Hindmarsh, Nanaimo, Passes

Nanaimo, Feb. 2.—Robert Hindmarsh, a pioneer of Nanaimo for fifty years, died at the family residence on Kennedy Street early this morning. He was seventy-one years of age and a native of Seghill, Northumberland, England.

He operated several hotels in Nanaimo in former years and was a member of the Knights of Pythias for forty-five years. He is survived by the widow, three sons, Robert and John in Nanaimo, and Dr. Albert Hindmarsh of Cambridge, Massachusetts.

Finds Many Faults May Be Responsible

Are You Unpopular? — Try These Tests on Yourself to Find Out Why: Are You Standoffish or Catty? — Do You Grab the Best of Everything and Monologue About Your Own Interests?—Do You Brag?—Are You Bossy?

A GIRL wants to know why she is not popular. Well, there are many reasons why we fail to be persona grata with our fellow creatures, but the chief reasons for unpopularity are these:

Being stand-offish. Expecting every one else to make all the advances toward friendliness. Expecting other people to run after you and court you, ever meeting any one even halfway. This is a busy world and few of us have the time, or are inclined to take the trouble to defrost a refrigerator on the chance of finding that there is a nice, warm human heart within that is hungering for affection and companionship. There is nothing that draws us to people so much as graciousness and nothing that repels us from them so surely as the lack of it.

Cattishness. Always having your claws out and giving every one with whom you come in contact a sly scratch. You know the sort of girl who will say to a poor girl: "How nicely your dress made over, Mary. I never saw anything dye better. It looks almost new." Or who will admire a girl's engagement ring and remark that she always did like those little cheap diamonds. They are so unpretentious. The people we like are those who stroke our fur the right way and make us purr under their hands and go away feeling pleased with ourselves, not those who leave us bleeding from a hundred wounds in our vanity.

Caddishness. Being high-hat. Snobbish. Running after people who are rich or socially important and snubbing old friends. Kotowing to those above you and trampling on those below you. Always boasting of what dear Maria Croesus said to you and telling about what a really charming fellow Tommy Asterbilt is, although your only acquaintance with them is through the society column in the newspapers. Nobody has any time for a toady.

Selfishness. Grabbing the best of everything for yourself. Always seizing more than your fair share of everything. Monopolizing the window in an automobile, the choice room in a hotel, the best seat, the softest bed, gobbling up most of the chocolate creams. Never being willing to divide. Crash in on another girl and her date, but, when you have one, segregate him from all the balance of the girls. The selfish girl treads on everybody's toes and they respond by kicking her out of their path.

Being bossy. Being determined to run the show and make everybody do your way. Never being willing to give and take. Refusing to play the game unless it is played your way. Feeling that you have a divine right to impose all your opinions and tastes on others. Insisting upon every one going to your doctor, patronizing your dressmaker, holding your views on politics and religion. Most of us love our personal liberty and are not strong for dictators.

Bragging. Boasting about what you are and have, and have accomplished. Telling about how aristocratic you are and how your great-grandmother's uncle's second cousin came over in the Mayflower, or knew somebody who was a singer or something or other. Holding your automobile over every one's head.

Telling about how much your hats cost and that your frocks are all imported. Telling about the millionaires you could have married. Repeating all the compliments that have ever been paid you with additions and embellishments. Telling how people are always wondering why you do not go to Hollywood and star in the movies. Giving yourself the glad hand somehow always makes other people keep their hands in their pockets.

Talking about yourself. Monologuing along about your own affairs, your family, your interests, your amusements, what you do and think. Assuming that the general public is just waiting with bated breath to hear every detail of your private life and never wearies listening to the account of all of your symptoms when you are ill, of what happened on some insignificant trip you have taken, and what you said to the boy friend and he said to you. The only human beings who are interested in our personal reminiscences are our mothers.

Lack of tact. Being a bull in the conversational china shop. Telling home truths that blister. Saying the wrong things to the wrong people. Discussing divorce with a woman who is just back from Reno. Asking the mother of a delicate child if it is not tuberculosis. Telling a woman who is posing as thirty that your mother used to go to school with her. The people who speak without thinking never have any one but themselves to talk to. We avoid them as we would the plague.

Lack of attractiveness. Being dull. Never knowing how to do things. Never fitting in anywhere. Being argumentative. Not being able to talk interestingly, or play a good game of cards or dance or even get along peaceably with other people. This is a selfish world in which we do not afflict ourselves with bores if we can help it.

Finally, not being willing to pay the price. For popularity comes high. It costs self-sacrifice, putting others before yourself, refraining from saying many things you would like to say and making a continuous effort to be pleasant and agreeable and entertaining. DOROTHY DIX.

Sailing Ships Had Battling Voyages

Fought Storms All the Way From England to Australia; Notables Make Long Trips; Were Becalmed Five Days Outside Harbor

Port Victoria, Australia, Feb. 2.—After being becalmed for five days off this port, seven windjammers, racing ships of the famous grain fleet, have been blown into port here on their return from England, ready to load for the next race. For five days they were unable to move, when, together they sailed into the harbor here on the same strong breeze.

Officers of the ships reported a hard voyage from England. Storms were fought for most of the way and there were two casualties. A youth was washed overboard from the Parma in the English Channel, and a cadet fell from the rigging of the Archibald Rusell, 130 feet to the deck, and was instantly killed. The ships sailed from England during the fierce autumnal gales, some of the worst the British coast had experienced in years.

FEARS HELD

In December it was feared that a major disaster had overtaken the Parma, when a sailor's body, in a Parma lifejacket was washed up on a beach along the coast of France. The Parma was the winner of the grain race in 1933 and grave fears were felt for her safety. She had not been sighted since October, but just before Christmas the steamer Avalon Castle reported her 450 miles north of Brazil, headed for Cape Horn.

J. Allan Villiers, well-known author of sea stories, and part owner of the Parma, was aboard that ship, having made the long voyage from England. It was his fiftieth trip around Cape Horn.

Two more notables also made the sailing ship voyage. They were Percy Grainger, the famous Australian pianist, and his wife, who were aboard the Lavenir. Mr. Grainger, who is now fifty-one years of age, married Miss Ella Viola Strom, the Swedish poetess and painter, in an outdoor amphitheatre at Hollywood, in the presence of 22,000 people. In 1922 Grainger inherited about $1,000,000.

The seven ships that reached this port after a voyage of 101 days from England were the Archibald Russell, the Pamir, the Ponape, the Lavenir, the Pommern, the Parma and the Viking. They will also start loading grain for the United Kingdom in a short time.

SEES NEED OF ARTS MINISTRY

Sir Thomas Beecham Renews Demand For Development of Culture

Canadian Press

London, Feb. 2.—The plea which issues intermittently from a variety of quarters for the establishment of a ministry of fine arts was supported by the eminent conductor, Sir Thomas Beecham, in his presidential address to the Incorporated Society of Musicians. He roundly declared that "opera is a washout" so far as the United Kingdom is concerned.

"We are placed at an enormous disadvantage as compared with the continent of Europe in the matter of opera. In London there is an excellent popular opera on a limited scale, and there is an exotic but highly specialized foreign opera for a month or six weeks in the summer. That is attended by a few people who can afford to go to it. But there is no opera in the English provinces."

In Germany, on the other hand, there were 110 opera houses before the revolution, and now there are eighty, Sir Thomas said. In Italy there were fifty-five opera houses, and he had seen opera in twenty-five to thirty towns in France. The number of English operas which could be exported to the continent, including these of Dame Ethel Smyth and Delius, could be counted on the fingers of two hands, whereas he knows of the existence of more than 3,000 foreign operas.

For the time being, added Sir Thomas, the musical strength of the United Kingdom lay in the great choral movement. He once counted more than 4,000 British choral societies, a greater number than were to be found on the continent of Europe and in America together. That was an astoundingly healthy sign of our musical culture, but it was not an easy thing to deal with commercially.

Around the Docks

After a thirty-day voyage from the United Kingdom, the Furness motorship Pacific Shipper, Capt. William de R. Hall, reached Rithet Piers this morning at 11 o'clock. She had a parcel of cargo for discharge at this port before proceeding to Vancouver. All passengers from England disembarked at California ports last week.

DUE FOR LUMBER

To load a parcel of Vancouver Island lumber for the United Kingdom, the freighter Dallington Court is expected at the Ogden Point piers this evening, King Brothers, local shipping agents, were advised this morning.

HERE ON SUNDAY

Capt. A. J. Hailey, R.N.R., master of the Canadian Pacific liner Empress of Canada, this morning advised L. D. Chetham, local C.P.R. agent, that he would bring his ship into the William Head quarantine station Sunday morning at 7 o'clock, on her way to Victoria from the Orient and Honolulu. The ship will reach the Rithet Piers about 7.30 o'clock and spend two hours here before proceeding to Vancouver.

RAN INTO FOG

Although she ran into dense fog in the Straits yesterday evening, the Ss. Dorothy Alexander, of the Pacific Steamship Lines, was not delayed on her trip here and docked at the Rithet Piers yesterday evening at 8.30 o'clock from Los Angeles and San Francisco. She had passengers and cargo for Victoria and left at midnight for Seattle.

SAILS TO-NIGHT

After repairs and overhaul at the Bay Street plant of the Victoria Machinery Depot, the Ss. Princess Maquinna will leave the Belleville Street piers this evening at 11 o'clock for ports along the west coast of Vancouver Island. She will take out passengers, cargo and mails.

OUT TO-MORROW

To-morrow evening at 6 o'clock will see the departure from Victoria of the American Mail liner President Grant for ports in Japan, China and the Philippine Islands. She will sail from Seattle at 11 o'clock in the morning, arrive here at 4 o'clock and sail two hours later for Yokohama.

MEXICAN SHIP IN NORTHWEST

Ms. Hildalgo, With Mexican Crew, Reaches Seattle to Load For Topolbampo

Seattle, Feb. 2.—For the first time in many years the flag of Mexico was seen in Seattle harbor yesterday afternoon as the steel motorship Hidago, trim four-master, arrived in Elliott Bay, after a voyage from San Pedro.

Capt. Oscar Schilinger, a stocky little seafaring man, whose father was German and mother Mexican, brought the Hidalgo to Seattle.

Capt. Thomas Patrick Quinn, Puget Sound pilot, was at Port Townsend to meet the Hidalgo, but the vessel came direct to Seattle.

MEXICAN CREW

After circling the bay as if looking for a place to berth, the 388-ton merchant ship went to Smith Cove Pier 40.

With the Mexican flag flying astern and a crew of eighteen Mexicans on deck, the vessel attracted much attention in the harbor.

Capt. W. W. Keene of Long Beach, Calif., owner of the Hidalgo, was on the wharf to greet the vessel, which bears the name of Gorge Washington of Mexico. Ensenada is her home port.

FOR TOPOLOBOMPO

After taking aboard new booms at Smith Cove, the Hidalgo went to Eagle Harbor last night to begin loading a full cargo of 1,000,000 feet of piling to be used in flood control at Topolobampo, Mexico. She will complete her cargo in Everett.

Capt. Keene purchased the Hidalgo three months ago. The vessel formerly was the steel barkentine Hawaii. She was acquired by the Sterling Steamship Company of Seattle, converted into a motorship and renamed the Ethel M. Sterling. The vessel carried a cargo of lumber from the Sound to the West Coast of America early in 1927 and sulphur later in the same year from Gulf ports to Hawaii. The Hidalgo made a slow passage up from San Pedro, requiring eight days to make the voyage.

LINER HITS HUGE WHALE

Shock So Violent to Ss. President Taft That Passengers Ran Out on Deck

San Francisco, Feb. 2.—The Dollar liner President Taft, bound from San Francisco to New York, struck a giant whale early yesterday 1,027 miles northeast of Balboa.

"The impact was terrific," the liner's wireless operator messaged. "I thought we'd hit a rock. The boat trembled violently and the passengers all ran out on deck."

He said the whale appeared stunned after the shock and remained on the surface, forcing the President Taft to reverse and detour around it.

At the first meeting of the 1934 council which he has attended, Reeve Robert W. Mayhew, yesterday evening congratulated Councillors T. J. Goodlake and W. H. Mearns on their re-election by acclamation. He also extended congratulations to Councillor J. V. Johnson, the only new member. The reeve recently returned from a holiday in California.

CARL PENDRAY IS CHAMPION

Won Majority of Deck Sports Crossing to Orient Aboard Ss. Empress of Japan

"Champion of the Pacific Ocean" was the title bestowed on J. Carl Pendray of Victoria, who is now in Singapore, on his way around the world, according to word received here this morning from Japan. Mr. Pendray earned his title during the transpacific voyage of the Ss. Empress of Japan, on which he and Mrs. Pendray, with their daughters, Miss Phyllis and Miss Eileen Pendray, sailed from here December 31 on their second voyage across the Pacific.

As Mr. Pendray was one of the veteran passengers of the Empress of Japan, having traveled aboard her several times before, he was named chairman of the sports committee a few days after the ship left Victoria. Miss Phyllis Pendray was also honored when she was selected "Miss 1934" to preside at the New Year's Eve festivities the night after the ship left this port.

DECK SPORTS

The various deck sports were run off in heats during the twelve-day trip to Yokohama. The night before the ship reached Japan the totals were counted up and it was found that Mr. Pendray had won nearly every event. When Capt. L. D. Douglas, R.N.R., master of the ship presented the prizes that night in the ballroom, Mr. Pendray was awarded the first place for deck quoits, men's singles and doubles; first place for the mixed doubles, deck quoits, and first place for the badminton mixed doubles. He also walked off with the first place in the auction bridge tournament.

The champion deck quoits team of officers challenged Mr. Pendray and a number of the other passengers for the "championship of the Pacific Ocean" and after a number of exciting games, which had the other passengers placing bets, the championship was awarded to the Victoria passenger.

Mr. and Mrs. Pendray and their daughters left the Empress of Japan at Hongkong three weeks ago and went to the Philippine Islands on their way to Singapore. They will next visit India and Egypt, and then go across the Mediterranean to southern Europe on their way to England where they will spend some weeks before returning to eastern Canada en route to Victoria. They expect to arrive home about the first week in June.

ISLAND MILLS INCREASE PAY

Canadian Press

Vancouver, Feb. 2.—The Alberta Pacific Lumber Company, Port Alberni, and the Great Central Saw Mills, located at Great Central, north of Port Alberni, yesterday announced a wage increase of 10 per cent, effective immediately. The two companies employ 1,500 men, the Alberta Pacific mill running two shifts per day.

MUCH ACTIVITY IN ANTARCTIC

Crews Greet Each Other in Little America, as They Work to Discharge Provisions

Bay of Whales, Antarctica (via Mackay Radio), Feb. 2.—after weathering storms and relentless and dangerous disintegration of ice, the flagship of the second Byrd Antarctic expedition and its supply ship were hove to yesterday as the men worked feverishly to discharge the remaining winter store.

Inspired by the fear that crumbling ice might again threaten the ships and supplies, the crews worked to unload the goods and transport them to a temporary cache on the bay ice six miles from Little America.

The Bear of Oakland, the supply ship, was berthed alongside the flagship after equalling a record run from Dunedin, N.Z., to the Bay of Whales. She brought ninety tons of stores for the expedition, including lumber for five shacks, scientific gear and food.

When the sixty-year-old barkentine arrived Wednesday evening, Rear-Admiral Richard E. Byrd shouted the greeting from the bridge, "Welcome to the Bay of Whales."

Terrence Keough, the young skipper of the Bear, shouted back, "Thank you, sir, we're all set to go."

CREWS' GREETINGS

There were enthusiastic greetings between members of the two crews.

The flagship had been cleared for the delicate job of manoeuvring and mooring lines were ready.

It is three miles to Pressure Camp from the new berth of the flagship. One relay cache is situated half way between. Two tractors haul sledges to the relay depot, uncouple, and return to the ship.

Two moe tractors haul the stores into Pressure Camp, a temporary base, from which dog teams haul supplies to another emergency cache on the western part of the Bay of Whales.

Wireless equipment was transferred to Little America by airplane yesterday. Men on the Bear were in good condition after the four months' run from Boston.

"We knew we were at the Bay of Whales, all right," the captain of the supply ship said.

"Ten miles out we passed a bale of hay on a big floe and I guess it was yours, unless some of the old settlers hereabouts have a dairy farm."

The hay had drifted out when the ice broke up under the old cache last Wednesday.

BRINGS LARGE SUGAR CARGO

Ss. Wairuna Reaches Vancouver From South Seas With 6,600 Tons of Sugar

Vancouver, Feb. 2.—The French Line Ms. Oregon is loading 2,300 tons of concentrates from the mines at Field, for Europe.

Canadian-Australasian Line Ss. Wairuna, Captain F. L. G. Jaunay, arrived Wednesday with 6,600 tons of sugar, a full cargo, for the B.C. Sugar Refinery. The ship had a good voyage north, and will load full for the Antipodes at Vancouver, New Westminster, Powell River, Ocean Falls, San Francisco and Los Angeles.

Blue Funnel Line Ss. Protesilaus, Captain R. G. Sturrock, arrived yesterday morning to Dodwell and Co., to discharge Oriental cargo. Captain Sturrock is making his second call here as master of his ship, but he is no stranger to the port, for a few years ago he was a regular visitor as chief officer on the company liner Achilles.

The Protesilaus will load 10,800 measurement tons of cargo at British Columbia ports. This is seventy-five per cent of her capacity. The balance of her space will be taken on Puget Sound.

RECALLS OLD YUKON DAYS

Philip Gershel, the "Rag-time Kid" of Dawson, Talks of Famous Characters

Regina, Feb. 2. — Famed in story and verse of the Klondike gold rush as the "rag-time kid," Philip Gershel, now in his seventy-first year, was in Regina yesterday, renewing old acquaintances, before the wandering feet that took him over most of the globe and into North America's most storied gold camp, again carry him on his way.

He came here from Mineapolis.

A little greyer, a little older looking, and a little less lively than on the memorable night, immortalized by Robert Service, when he saw Dan McGrew shot to death, Gershel is the man who vamped the chords out of the Northland's most famous "music box." In the glittering days of '98, it was he who played for $50 a night in the Monte Carlo Cafe when the "Lady that's known as Lou" chose to dance and sing.

All the characters of Service's epic of the Klondike were known to Gershel. At that time a clerk in the Bank of Commerce in Dawson, Service himself, Gershel recalled, used to stand beside him occasionally and chat between numbers.

"I knew Dan McGrew and all the others," Gershel said. "The 'Lady that's known as Lou" was tough, but big-hearted and gentle as a lamb. She was a grand lady."

It was the man who shot McGrew, according to Gershel, who could really draw the tunes out of the old Klondike piano. Despite the fact Service referred to Gershel as the "rag-time kid," he was thirty-six years old that night in 1896 when McGrew breathed his last.

BRONX DUCKS ARE RESTIVE

Roving Mallard and His Harem Keep New York Experts Guessing

Canadian Press

New York, Feb. 2.—Like many other New Yorkers in these days of repeal, the wild ducks of the Bronx Zoo are staying out all night.

With a great fluttering of wings that sounds like a corps of maniacal trap-drummers, the flock of 801 ducks whirr away soon after nightfall. As the sun comes up, they descend to paddle drowsily about the zoo's ample Lake Agassiz.

Zoologists are stumped for an explanation. But, in addition to being puzzled, Keeper George Williamson is saddened. He fears that the flock in general, and Rex in particular, will flutter away one night and forget to return.

Rex, it seems, is not just a duck, Rex is a very special duck—a giant mallard with a personality.

Rex first appeared at the Zoo in the fall of 1931 with a modest harem. He has come back each autumn and his ever increasing flock bears eloquent witness to his charm. When he arrived last October from the north for his winter in the zoo 300 mallards came in his wake. He brought along 500 black ducks too.

For a time the flock seemed one big, happy family until Rex apparently began to weary of domesticity. On evenings when the big mallard's discontent was most apparent Keeper Williamson noted that Rex would steal away alone and fly out over the city in the dark. The keepers weren't even able to guess where he went.

After this had gone on for many weeks the real blow came. A keeper strolling by the lake after dark found that every last one of the 801 ducks were gone. In the morning, to the amazement of all, the flock was back, paddling around as though nothing had happened.

The duck experts do just that—duck—when asked for an explanation. But they are getting jumpy. When Rex sallied forth on his solitary night flights that was one duck to worry about. Now they have 801 ducks to worry about when they stay out all night.

The height is in feet and tenths of a foot, measured from the average level of low water.
